

SeAH Superalloy Technologies – Anti-Slavery & Human Trafficking Statement

We are committed to preventing slavery, forced labor, human trafficking, and all forms of modern slavery within our operations and supply chains. We believe that all people should be treated with dignity and respect, and we take a zero-tolerance approach to any practices that violate fundamental human rights.

We comply with all applicable laws and regulations relating to anti-slavery and human trafficking, including the Modern Slavery Act and other relevant legislation. We are dedicated to conducting business ethically and transparently, and we work to ensure that our policies, procedures, and business relationships reflect these values.

We expect the same high standards from our partners, suppliers, and contractors. We do not knowingly engage with any organization involved in slavery or human trafficking, and we take appropriate action if concerns are identified.

We remain committed to continuous improvement by raising awareness, promoting responsible business practices, and taking steps to identify and reduce the risk of modern slavery in our activities and supply chains.
