

Email Submission

Blitz Insurance is built to provide portal access, integration, and support for your unique agency workflows and to scale with you as your business grows. Email is a major part of your agency's submission process and Blitz can quote your risk through an email submission process; no portal log in required. See below for more information about how to quote your business with Blitz by email.

Model Options

MODEL NAME	BEST FIT ORGANIZATION	BEST FOR
OPTION 1 Direct Producer Submission	An onboarded Blitz producer sends or forwards a submission directly to submissions@blitzinsurance.com Blitz identifies the producer from their email address, processes the submission, and sends the result directly back to them.	Individual producers who want to submit business to Blitz without entering it manually in the platform.
OPTION 2 Distribution Inbox Submission	Blitz can configure a partner's shared distribution inbox as a producer account. Submissions sent from that inbox can be sent directly to Blitz, processed underneath the partner's configured account, and returned to the distribution inbox.	Partners that centralize submissions through a shared placement or submissions inbox.
OPTION 3 Partner-Attributed Intake Channel	For partners with more sophisticated intake or email-routing capabilities, Blitz can provide a unique submission email address associated with a specific producer or partner account. The partner can configure its existing workflow to route appropriate submissions to that address, allowing submissions from other senders or systems to still be attributed to the configured Blitz account. Blitz processes the submission and returns the result to the partner's configured recipient.	Larger or more technically sophisticated partners that already have centralized intake, routing rules, ticketing systems, or other automation and want to embed Blitz into that existing workflow.

HOW IT WORKS

- 1 Email submissions@blitzinsurance.com describing the risk and the coverage(s) you're looking for. Attach a PDF application, ACORD form or loss runs if you have them — optional, and the narrative isn't required if you're sending documents.
- 2 Blitz reads your email and any attachments and builds the application on your behalf, using reasonable assumptions to fill any gaps.
- 3 In less than five minutes you'll get a reply with recommended next steps for your application.

WHAT YOU'LL HEAR BACK

Most submissions will end up in one of four places:

Quoted	Blitz was able to price the risk. Your quote is ready to review.
Referred to Underwriting	the risk needs a closer look from one of our underwriters before we can quote.
Out of Appetite	this risk falls outside what Blitz can write today.
More Information Needed	we need a few more details from you before we can move forward.

The email will include a link to the application in the Blitz portal, so you can log in, review, and pick up right where things left off.

ABOUT ASSUMPTIONS

Since we're working from a narrative description (and whatever documents you send), Blitz sometimes needs fill in gaps with reasonable assumptions. For example, a standard limit or an estimated payroll. Any assumptions we made will be called out explicitly in the response email so nothing is hidden. You're always in control; you can correct or adjust any of it once you're in the portal.

MAKING CHANGES OR BINDING

Email submissions get you a fast head start, not a final answer. All edits, negotiation, and binding happen in the Blitz portal. Reach out to support@blitzinsurance.com with any questions.
