Medicinal Uses

Arjuna, being the tall tree of great medicinal value, mostly represents cardioprotective action. The coenzyme Q10 and flavonoids within the bark are in high enough quantity to synergistically act on improving the muscle of the heart and overall blood circulation. Traditionally, Arjuna was used to reduce the risk of heart diseases such as angina and heart failure; it also possesses a potent antioxidant action that fights oxidative stress, thus supporting healthy levels of cholesterol. Other than cardioprotective effects, Arjuna contributes to the processes of wound healing and reduces overall body inflammation.
