

Product Details

Safed Musli

It is a perennial herb admired for its slender, lance-shaped leaves and fleshy, tuberous roots. These roots are highly valued in traditional medicine for their rejuvenating and health-boosting properties. The plant thrives in well-drained, sandy soil and grows best in partial sunlight, making it easy to cultivate in tropical and subtropical regions. With its rich nutritional profile and adaptability, Safed Musli has become a sought-after herb in Ayurveda, contributing to its growing popularity in herbal and pharmaceutical industries.
