

Product Information

Gawar Patha, Kumari

Gawar Patha, Kumari is a succulent plant native to the Arabian Peninsula but cultivated globally. Its thick, fleshy leaves are filled with clear gel alongside bitter latex beneath the leaf skin. The plant thrives in arid climates and has been used for centuries across cultures for its remarkable healing properties, particularly noted for soothing skin irritations and providing digestive support through judicious use of the latex.

Medicinal Uses

Aloe barbadensis is a plant with diverse applications and a long history of therapeutic use. Well-known for its skin-soothing properties, aloe vera gel hydrates the skin, reduces irritation, and diminishes inflammation, thus being effective in treating burns, wounds, and a number of skin disorders. Apart from skin health, it helps in digestion by mitigating constipation and helping gut health. Its detoxifying action smoothes the working of the liver and kidneys, hence healing the whole body. Besides, aloe vera is said to boost immunity, nourish scalp areas for healthy hair growth, and help manage diabetes with proper blood sugar regulation by bringing metabolic health in order.
