

Product Information

Revand Chini

Revand chini is a robust perennial herb native to the high-altitude Himalayas in India, Nepal, and Tibet, flourishing at 2,400–4,000 meters. Recognized for its thick, reddish stems, large heart-shaped leaves, and clusters of small greenish-white to pink flowers, its underground rhizome is its most valuable part rich in anthraquinones and tannins and has been traditionally used for its therapeutic qualities.
