

Product Information

Shudh Shilajit

Ustekhadooos is a fragrant, evergreen shrub of the Lamiaceae family, with narrow, gray-green leaves and distinctive purple flower spikes topped with petal-like bracts, giving it an ornamental appeal. Native to the Mediterranean region, it thrives in dry, sunny climates and is widely cultivated for its aromatic and therapeutic qualities. The whole plant, especially its flowers, is highly valued for its pleasant fragrance and medicinal significance.

Medicinal Uses

It is a mineral pitch that has been used in Ayurveda for many centuries due to its potent rejuvenating action. It is a natural product which embraces a broad spectrum of therapeutic effects, such as energy gain, physical stamina, and reducing fatigue. Shilajit is also very important in male reproductive health because it increases fertility and sexual drive. The adaptogenic action of Shilajit helps the organism combat stress and enhance its immune system. It promotes cognitive function: memory, focus, and clarity of mind. Shilajit enhances liver and kidney functions, thus facilitating the natural detoxification processes within the organism. Its anti-aging action contributes to overall vitality and longevity.
