SPRING MIGRATION

Sample itinerary, with overnight in Grand Island

The magnificence of the sandhill crane migration can only be experienced here, in the central Platte River Valley.

Day 1

Stuhr Museum | 3133 W. US Hwy 34
stuhrmuseum.org | 308-385-5316

Start your migration experience with a program at Stuhr Museum. While there, you'll see videos and hear a presentation about the crane migration. You'll also get a tour of the museum's architecturally significant main building highlighting history exhibits. Depending on your arrival time and needs, lunch can be available for your group upon arrival or right before you depart.

Allow 2-2.5 hours (depends on your needs)

Driving Tour (mid afternoon)

You'll hit the road with a local guide who will take you through areas where the sandhill cranes feed during the day. You may catch them dancing to impress their future mate.

Allow 1-1.5 hours

Crane Trust Nature and Visitor Center

9325 S. Alda Rd., Wood River
cranetrust.org | 308-382-1820

At the Crane Trust, learn how conservation efforts help make this a preferred resting spot for sandhill cranes, as well as their travel mates, the whooping cranes. At dusk, an up close view of the cranes will be the highlight of your visit. From viewing blinds on the river, you'll see and hear the birds fly in for their overnight stay. Warm clothes, binoculars and a camera should be on your packing list. (booking is required for group blind tours)

Crane Trust

NATURE CENTER

The Crane Trust is best known as a place to see the sandhill crane migration. But the rest of the year, it is a thriving, working, nature center. Learn about and experience this spot in the Platte River Valley with the help of staff and guides.

Nature

Stretch your legs on one of the many trails at the nature center. Stay close by the visitors' center or take up to a one-mile walk. Learn about the various plants and pollinators that make this location so important to the area's ecosystem.

Bison

The Crane Trust plays host to many birds on their migratory paths, but it is also the home to a large herd of bison. Go on a "safari" to see the bison and learn how the behavior of these large animals impacts prairie restoration.

Films

See one or more of the short films which showcases the beauty of the region, the spectacle of the great sandhill crane migration and the work of the Crane Trust. Plus hear from a photographer or videographer who makes this place a must for their portfolios.

Gallery/Gift Shop

In the Hornady Gallery, you'll see beautiful photographs and artwork featuring this part of the Platte River. Nearby is the Crimson Crown Gift Shop where you can purchase everything from a bird guide to a silk scarf as a reminder of your visit.

PLACES & SPACES:

Stuhr Museum

Praised as the “best preserved pioneer town” (True West), Stuhr Museum tells the story of early pioneers settling on the plains. Its 200 acres offer a spectacular and architecturally significant main building, plus an 1890s railroad town with original buildings and historical interpreters during the summer and holidays. You can also see a recreated Pawnee earth lodge, vintage vehicles and much more.

As a special treat, motorcoaches can schedule behind the scenes tours at the collections building and archives.

Railroad Town

This recreated pioneer community features historic homes and businesses, including a planing mill, blacksmith and tin smith shops, and a millenary. Homes include the birthplace of Academy award winning actor, Henry Fonda, who was born in Grand Island in 1905.

The Stuhr Building

The museum’s main building was designed by renowned architect Edward Durell Stone, known for designing the John F. Kennedy Center and Radio City Music Hall. It’s architectural beauty stands out on the prairie. It houses historical displays, traveling exhibits, art exhibits, meeting spaces and the gift shop. The east portico is used for special functions.

Sculptures

Dotted throughout the grounds are sculptures depicting prairie life and its people.

Fonner Rotunda

The Fonner Rotunda houses Native American and cowboy exhibits, plus items from the Bartenbach Opera House. The beautiful Arrow Maker sculpture anchors this round structure. Outside is a sculpture of the Martin Brothers, whose harrowing story is one you’ll want to hear.

Farm Implements and Automobiles

In this building you’ll find many steam tractors and a collection of antique cars.

RAILSIDE DISTRICT

Let Grand Island Tourism help you plan your visit to and through the Railside district.

The Railside district, Grand Island's historic downtown, has experienced a renaissance over the past decade. Unique shopping, dining, and entertainment opportunities are all within a few block stroll when you're Railside.

The Grand Theatre

Railside's lovingly restored movie house offers an experience you won't find at any modern cineplex for less than half the price. Films are shown Fri-Sun nights in the 1930s art-deco theater. Schedule a tour.

Railside Breweries

Prairie Pride is an award winning brewery and tap room serving pale ales to stouts. Brewhaus tours are available. Nearby, The Chicken Coop restaurant features their own cream soda and root beer, plus brews from their regional brewery.

Railside Shopping

Railside has long been known for its antique stores. Recently, a number of independent specialty stores have also opened in the district.

Guided Tours

When you stroll Railside you'll see sculptures, murals, and wings painted in alley ways. You can interact with the art by taking photos to help remember your time in Railside. You'll also see historic buildings dating back to the 1880s. Take a guided art or history tour courtesy of Grand Island Tourism.

Treats

If you have a sweet tooth, stop in one of the businesses that sell desserts, malts or fudge. You can also grab Nebraska grown popcorn in various flavors. You can even schedule a tour of Big Red Treats popping room (not handicapped accessible).
