2.0 Meeting Notes – May 15, 2025

Welcome, Introductions, and Agenda

Kyle Clark, Chair, International Association of Police Chiefs (IACP), welcomed coalition members and expressed his appreciation for their continued engagement and participation. He extended a warm welcome to new members, including Savana Wright, Center for Urban Transportation Research (CUTR) and David Burt, Florida Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (FLHSMV). Kyle provided updates on several ongoing IACP initiatives focused on efforts addressing impaired driving. He highlighted the upcoming 2024 IACP Wrong-Way Driving Best Practices Guide developed in partnership with the National Sheriffs' Association (NSA), and the 2024 Drug Evaluation and Classification Program (DECP) Manual and Annual Report. The DECP will feature more than 50 best practices, over 60,000 data points, and enhanced graphic design to enhance usability.

Kyle emphasized the critical role of Drug Recognition Experts (DREs) in addressing impaired driving. He reported that over 8,500 DRE evaluations were conducted in 2024, including 480 in Florida. Kyle stated that Florida currently has 352 certified DREs, with five newly trained, contributing to more than 26,000 enforcement evaluations nationwide, returning to near pre-2020 levels. He shared insights from toxicology trends, noting that central nervous system stimulants were the most identified impairing substance in 17,000 cases, while cannabis remained the most commonly detected in Florida. Kyle noted 41 percent of these cases involved multiple drug categories, underscoring the complexity of impairment and the importance of advanced training. He added that 23 percent of tested drivers in Florida were found to be under the influence of controlled substances, and that the state's 14 percent toxicology testing rate surpasses the national average of 9 percent.

Finally, Kyle noted upcoming professional gatherings, including the Institute of Police Technology and Management (IPTM) Symposium from May 19-22, 2025, in Orlando, and the IACP Impaired Driving and Traffic Safety (IDTS) Conference in Chicago, Illinois from August 4-6, 2025.

Danny Shopf, Cambridge Systematics (CS), provided an overview of the agenda and the meeting followed.

FIDC Strategic Action Plan Subcommittee Breakout Session

Attendees joined into subcommittee groups based on the following Action Items:

- 1B.3 – Impaired Driving Countermeasures System Visualization.
- 2C.5 – Evaluate opportunities to develop underage, impaired driving pilot program (perhaps in conjunction with existing programs, like Drive with Care) in an area(s) with high rates of underage, impaired driving.
- 6A.6 – Develop and distribute a white paper that documents potential impacts of lowering Florida's blood alcohol content (BAC) threshold for impairment from 0.08. to 0.05.

DUI Program Activities

Anne Rollyson, DUI Counterattack, Hillsborough County, Inc., introduced herself and presented an overview of Florida's Driving Under the Influence (DUI) Programs to provide drug and alcohol education to DUI offenders to satisfy judicial and driver licensing requirements. She emphasized that all DUI programs are licensed and regulated by FLHSMV and operate as either non-profit or government entities. While most are licensed at the county or judicial circuit level, she notes that Broward, Miami-Dade, and Palm Beach counties are exceptions to this structure. Anne explained that DUI programs collaborate with local partners, including courts, probation offices, and tax collector agencies, but are ultimately accountable to the state. She stressed that DUI programs are among the most heavily regulated services in Florida and are subject to strict compliance standards. She outlined the three primary services for Florida's DUI programs: DUI School (Levels I and II), Special Supervision Services, and Ignition Interlock Monitoring. Anne emphasized that assessments rely on a longstanding standardized form, and participation requires extensive documentation. She referenced that noncompliance could lead to long-term or permanent license revocation. Anne noted that sobriety is expected, and relapses can lead to license suspension with a focus on continued engagement. She mentioned that program fees have not increased since 1985, despite growing administrative demands. She highlighted challenges such as outdated regulations, rigid fee structures, and difficulties enrolling out-of-state or undocumented individuals. She concluded by stressing the need for updated policies, improved funding, and stronger interagency collaboration to support program effectiveness.

Participants had the following questions and comments:

- Chief Brett Railey, FPCA, asked if first time offenders are aware of what constitutes impairment?
 - Anne noted that well over 60 percent of first time offenders are unaware they are impaired or do not understand when impairment begins. Binge drinking can increase tolerance making individuals less aware of their level of intoxication, and most first time offenders do not realize why they are being pulled over.
- Dr. Chanyoung Lee, CUTR, asked how often curriculum is updated and if it is required by statute?
 - Anne explained that the DUI curriculum is typically reviewed every two years, though updates are infrequent. Statistics used in the curriculum may be two to five years old, and in some cases, over a decade old. While each curriculum has core goals and sections, additions can be made if the content is relevant.
- Chanyoung asked if there are observable trends regarding participant follow-through? How many individuals fail to return, and what are the consequences for not completing Level I?
 - Anne replied that most people who complete Level I successfully do not reoffend, but those who fail to complete the program are more likely to reoffend, particularly those referred to Level II. Failure to complete Level II may result in license revocation.
- Melissa Gonzalez, FLHSMV, asked if most participants in Level I or II are younger individuals?
 - Anne clarified that both Levels I and II include a wide age range, though most participants are males aged 22 to 30. One challenge is addressing the needs of participants with varying literacy levels or educational backgrounds.

- Kyle asked what percentage of participants are first-time offenders?
 - Anne noted that the number of first-time offenders has increased since the events of 2020. Prior to that, the referral rate for first-time offenders was approximately 65 percent. However, rising blood alcohol concentration (BAC) levels—particularly in cases with a BAC of 0.18 or higher, which require counseling—have contributed to higher referral rates. For Level II participants, who are typically repeat offenders, the referral rate is around 95 percent, with many programs reporting rates approaching 100 percent.
- Brett asked how do programs address challenges involving undocumented individuals?
 - Anne explained that in Spanish-language classes, approximately 30 percent of participants do not have a driver's license and often show little interest in obtaining one. This presents a challenge, as programs must work closely with the courts to ensure they are aware of the participants' lack of intent to pursue licensure.
- Kyle asked about the structure of Level II, noting that it includes a repeat of Level I training. He also inquired whether it provides an additional nine hours of instruction.
 - Anne confirmed that this is correct. Level I classes can include up to 30 participants, while Level II is more costly due to the increased number of service hours required.

Underage Impaired Driving Data

Dr. Chanyoung Lee, CUTR, introduced himself and provided an overview of underage, impaired driving data, noting a personal connection as a parent of two teenage daughters. He highlighted Florida's Zero Tolerance Law, which mandates license suspension for drivers under age 21 with a BAC of 0.02 or higher. Chanyoung shared data on teen drivers involved in traffic fatalities from 2021 to 2023, noting that nearly 30 percent of teen driving fatalities involve an impaired driver. He clarified that while underage drinking refers to individuals under 21, many are college-aged with greater access to alcohol and attend parties. His presentation included statistics on fatal crashes, injury severity, and types of impairment (alcohol, drugs, or both), noting no single substance stood out in BAC levels. Chanyoung also shared the top ten violations linked to teen crashes, including DUI, careless driving, and driving without a license. He concluded that alcohol-related crashes are most common during spring break, summer, and holidays—particularly from October to December—with average BAC levels ranging from 0.05 to 0.10. Chanyoung emphasized that underage drinking and driving is a persistent issue requiring further investigation. He recommended the development of two separate prevention programs—one targeting high school students and another for college students. While alcohol remains the most common form of impairment, he pointed out that suspected drug use is frequently reported in serious and fatal crashes.

Participants had the following questions and comments:

- Anne asked Chanyoung to clarify that the percentage of 16-year olds who die in crashes while impaired is 21 percent?
 - Chanyoung said yes that is correct.
- Anne noted that she has not seen charges filed specifically for drivers under 21. She mentioned that if a teen's BAC is above 0.05, they are often encouraged—but not required—to attend counseling. Anne expressed a desire to see a statutory requirement mandating treatment for these cases and is working to incorporate this goal into a new objective in the FIDC Strategic Action Plan.

- Chanyoung added that currently, these cases are handled strictly as criminal offenses.
- Anne suggested to create a sub-form specifically for underage drivers and will consult Lakeisha White, FDOT, for further questions on this matter.

Action Plan Report Out

Danny led the coalition in the Action Plan Report on the following goals. Updates to the Action Plan can be found in Appendix A:

- Goal 2 – Prevention
- Goal 5 – Alcohol and Other Drug Misuse
- Goal 6 – Criminal Justice System

THC Infused Drinks

Danny Shopf, CS, initiated a discussion on THC-infused drinks for all members to participate. He prompted the coalition members about the new products and opened the floor for discussion on how to meet the challenges presented by their availability.

- Ellen Snelling, Tampa Alcohol Coalition, confirmed her awareness of the growing issue and shared that she was recently interviewed by a Jacksonville news station about the sale of hemp-derived, THC-infused drinks. She emphasized that the products are being sold outside of dispensaries, in locations such as gas stations, convenience stores, and smoke shops. She noted that there are many manufacturers, and the latest trend involves a variety of products. Ellen mentioned that while many THC products in smoke shops are kept in locked cases, the drinks are often displayed without such security. This lack of protection, especially in liquor and convenience stores, raises concerns about easy access and potential theft by teens. The THC content in these drinks varies widely, ranging from 5 mg to 200 mg per can, with products including shots, coffee, and slushies containing up to 200 mg of Delta-9 THC. Ellen stressed the importance of staying informed about these products.
- Melissa noted that there have been instances of promotional giveaways of these new drinks at sporting and concert events.
- Tim Cornelius, IPTM, commented that although Delta-8 and Delta-10 THC are legal in Florida, regulation of products containing them should follow state statute.
- Ellen added that there are often no compliance checks being conducted to determine if underage individuals are purchasing these products.

Public Comment Period

There were no comments from the public.

3.0 Meeting Notes – May 16, 2025

Recap of Day 1

Kyle provided a recap of Day 1 of the meeting. He began by welcoming new members and updating attendees on key initiatives led by the IACP, particularly those focused on impaired driving and the identification of best practices. Kyle expressed concern over missed opportunities in impaired driving prevention, noting that cannabis remains the most frequently detected drug in Florida's impaired driving cases. He pointed to a rising trend in drug use among drivers, with 23 percent of Florida drivers testing positive for drugs. Additionally, he emphasized that Florida's toxicology testing rate stands at 14 percent, which is notably higher than the national average of 9 percent. Kyle acknowledged Anne who provided activity details on Florida DUI programs, covering services such as DUI schools, special supervision, and ignition interlock monitoring. Then he acknowledged Chanyoung, who presented an overview of underage, impaired driving in Florida, highlighted Florida's Zero Tolerance Law for drivers under 21, and noted that nearly 30 percent of teen driving fatalities involve an impaired driver. Kyle mentioned the previous day's discussion that provided valuable insights and concerns in addressing THC-infused drinks—highlighting their low security and easy availability.

Danny provided an overview of the Day 2 agenda, and the meeting followed.

CUTR: Impaired Driving Fact Sheet

Dr. Chanyoung Lee, CUTR, presented the impaired driving fact sheet, sharing data on traffic fatalities from 2014 to 2023 with a focus on the percentage involving impaired driving. He highlighted that impairment is most common among drivers aged 20 to 30, with males representing the majority of these cases. Chanyoung broke down the data by categories including time of day, age groups, total breath tests conducted, DUI citations by agency, and rankings of impaired driving fatalities by location. Miami-Dade was identified as having the highest number of impaired driving fatalities, while Duval County reported a nearly 59 percent rate of impairment among fatal crashes. He also noted that within Florida Highway Patrol (FHP) jurisdictions, the percentage of impaired drivers is higher compared to local police departments, citing that 31 percent of traffic fatalities in Miami under FHP jurisdiction involved impaired drivers. Chanyoung engaged the audience by questioning the reasons behind the higher proportion of impaired drivers found by FHP compared to police departments.

Participants had the following questions and comments:

- Melissa asked if the data also includes motorcycle fatalities?
 - Chanyoung replied the impaired crash data includes motorcycles.
- Jacob Gonzalez, Tampa Police Department (TPD), explained that response times tend to be quicker in smaller territories, whereas larger areas often experience more fatal crashes. He provided an example from Tampa, comparing pedestrian fatalities handled by local police departments to fatalities on I-275 managed by FHP, highlighting how jurisdictional differences contribute to the data.
- Brett noted that increased exposure leads to a greater likelihood of identifying impaired drivers.
- Larry Coggins, Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), explained that the Sheriff's Office handles most of the enforcement in Polk County, which can be a challenging area due to its size and complexity.

- Danny asked whether local police departments and sheriff's offices should be expected to align with the state average, where 30 percent of cases with fatal crashes involve an impaired driver? He questioned why the FHP appears to report higher numbers and suggested that the difference could be due to higher speeds on interstates compared to lower-speed local roads.
- Brett noted that while FHP receives training in the academy, and DUI training is not always a standard practice across all agencies. He emphasized that it is not ideal to send a law enforcement officer to respond to a crash if they are not adequately trained to handle impaired driving investigations.
- Danny asked whether there is an opportunity to provide additional training for Law Enforcement Officers (LEOs) in police agencies?
- Tim Cornelius noted that more than 60 officers recently received training through the Advanced Roadside Impaired Driving Enforcement (ARIDE) program to conduct Standardized Field Sobriety Tests (SFSTs).
- Kevin Millan, Miami Beach Police Department, noted that there has been significant turnover with several officers retiring. As a result, some newer officers may lack the necessary skills or proper training to conduct DUI investigations effectively.
- Brett asked whether SFST certified officers only respond to fatal crashes, noting that there is generally a greater police presence in cities.
 - Chanyoung clarified that the data referenced pertains only to fatal crashes.
- Kyle noted that when examining alcohol-involved crashes, identifying those that also involve DUI charges could lead to more accurate data, particularly regarding speed and other contributing factors.

Tampa Police Department – Zero Tolerance Subcommittee

Cpl. Jacob Gonzalez, Tampa Police Department (TPD), introduced himself and presented on a local initiative focused on reducing impaired driving and underage alcohol sales in Tampa. Jacob emphasized the importance of vendor education, particularly in recognizing signs of impairment and identifying fraudulent IDs to prevent sales to minors. He highlighted TPD's support of an Impaired Driving Education program implemented in high schools, which offers a two-day program of combined classroom instruction with hands-on learning to educate students about the dangers and consequences of impaired driving. He also noted that Florida's relatively easy alcohol licensing process contributes to issues such as over-serving and over-pouring, which increases the risks of impaired driving. Additionally, Jacob reported that DUI-related fatalities in Tampa doubled from 6 in 2023 to 12 in 2024; while Hillsborough County recorded 53 fatal crashes involving an impaired driver in 2023, with a slight decrease in 2024. He identified that the Tampa neighborhoods of Ybor City and Soho are the most problematic areas, accounting for 244 impairment cases, many of which were linked to eight bars and involved fake IDs.

Jacob shared a video demonstrating the dangers of drinking and driving; and stressed the importance of prevention efforts. He noted that Tampa has a full-time DUI unit with 13 officers, and Hillsborough County has 33 officers, including nine DREs. Despite these efforts, only 10 percent of impaired drivers attend educational programs. He highlighted that many bars are non-compliant with required training under Florida Statute 561.702, which mandates vendor training within 30 days and ongoing education. Jacob introduced the Vendors Educated on Responsibility, Impaired Driving, and Fraudulent Youth ID's (V.E.R.I.F.Y.) Program, a collaborative initiative between TPD and the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office supported by FDOT to improve ID verification and compliance that covers 101 employees and 17 managers. He proposed updates to towing ordinances that would allow overnight parking, the challenge of bars accepting college IDs as secondary verification, and an app for real-time ID checks.

Participants had the following questions and comments:

- Melissa inquired about the availability of the Department of Business and Professional Regulation's (DBPR) responsibilities.
 - Jacob stated that it is not currently required, but to qualify as a responsible vendor, bars pay for the training. He believes it is beneficial and should be made a requirement.
- Anne asked whether any youth are currently taking online courses and emphasized that high school courses should include similar content. She added that if a course demonstrates a significant impact, it should be mandated as a state requirement and formally recognized.
 - Jacob emphasized that the most critical component is the education students receive, especially when presenting in high school classrooms. He explained the importance of experiential learning such as using impairment simulation tools like go-karts to help students understand the real danger of impaired driving. He noted that while traffic safety is part of driver education, it should be more broadly integrated into the school curriculum, which ultimately depends on the local school boards. Jacob also mentioned that TPD has seen notable success in reducing underage drinking amount high school students, particularly in Tampa and across Hillsborough County.

- Chris Earl, Florida Safety Council, highlighted that a bill (House Bill 889) requiring driver's education program for graduating students has passed the legislature and is expected to be signed into law by the Governor.
- Danny clarified that the teen collation is supportive of the legislation. He emphasized that the initiative aligns with the coalition's broader goals and is an important step towards offering driver's education in more high schools.
- Anne noted that DUI schools in Florida must be conducted in person, as virtual courses are not currently permitted.
- Kyle emphasized that most of the funding is allocated for staffing and inquired whether any of it is designated for resources?
 - Jacob emphasized enforcement and education, highlighting a DUI education program that is eligible for grant funding.

Legislative Updates

Danny opened the floor to members for discussion, inviting input on current challenges and opportunities related to the Florida 2025 Legislative Session.

- Garrett Berman, Florida Prosecuting Attorneys Association and public attendee, provided an overview of Trenton's Law (House Bill 687). He shared the background of the law explaining that Trenton was struck by an impaired driver who had a prior vehicular homicide conviction. Under existing statute, repeat offenders could only be charged with a secondary felony. Garrett mentioned that the bill moved forward through the criminal justice committee, but when it reached the judiciary committee in the House, additional DUI-related language was added. Despite this, there remains concern that courts may still release offenders involved in such serious crimes (The law is awaiting the Governor's signature).
- Tim explained that the senators worked to provide the House with accurate information to address opposition arguments about DUI legislation. He emphasized the need for sheriffs to support the incorporation of any impairing substance definition into the DUI law, and for warrants for blood draws in misdemeanor cases, and advocated for statute changes that would have a greater impact.
- Anne inquired about DUI program involvement in the process.
- Kyle noted that the IACP plans to advocate for clearer traffic safety language to help influence sheriffs' support.
- Ellen suggested a potential contact to connect with members of the coalition that can conduct legislative work.
- Ellen raised concerns about THC-infused drinks, noting that the Senate unanimously passed regulations (House Bill 7029) setting Hemp THC limits, but the House has not yet taken similar action.
- Larry shared that Lucy's Law (House Bill 289), which addresses boating and safety, has been passed the Senate and is now awaiting the Governor's signature.
- Danny recommended revisiting the materials available on the website and asked whether additional model language needs to be developed.

- Kyle responded that the current model language available on the website is adequate.

Action Plan Report Out

Danny led the coalition in the Action Plan Report on the following goals. Updates to the Action Plan can be found in Appendix A:

- Goal 1 – Program Management and Strategic Planning
- Goal 3 – Communication Program
- Goal 4 – Program Evaluation and Data

Public Comment Period

Garrett discussed best practices and model legislative language for first refusals, noting that it is typically charged as a secondary misdemeanor, with completion of a diversion program. He referenced Connecticut's approach, which tracks crash cases where defendants refuse testing, aiming to identify how often refusals occur. This data could assist the House in refining legislation.

Ellen shared her research on THC-infused drinks, noting that while a few warnings were provided, many can resemble energy drinks or seltzers. The THC Delta-9 drinks clearly state they contain Delta-9 THC and are labeled for ages 21 and up. She explained that THC can be derived from either hemp or cannabis.

- Melissa asked where these drinks are being sold?
 - Ellen responded that these products are commonly found in liquor stores and gas stations and are regulated under the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (FDACS) She questioned whether clerks are fully aware of the product regulations, given that it is a relatively new product with a 21 and up age restriction.

Melissa added that a provision of House Bill 700 included enhanced penalties for related to controlled substances derived from mushrooms recently passed.

Wrap Up and Next Steps

Danny highlighted an upcoming opportunity to engage with County Court Judges at the July 8–10, 2025 event in Lee County. He proposed setting up an informational booth to share coalition resources with the judges during the conference. Tim Cornelius volunteered to coordinate with Daniel Darren, Collier County Sheriff's Office, and attend the meeting together. Kyle concluded the meeting by encouraging everyone to review their tasks before the August meeting. He also expressed enthusiasm for the upcoming DUI visualization pilot and wished everyone safe travels.

Future Presentations

Q4:

- CUTR: Impaired Motorcycle Initiatives
- Paid Media – Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over and Sports Marketing

Future Presentations:

- Media Awareness - Post-Drive Sober Awareness Survey Results
- The Association of Court Enhanced Supervision Presentation
- Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco (ABT) Presentation
