ABOUT

Green Brothers Juice Co. is locally owned and operated in Charlotte, NC. Started out of pure love and passion for health and wellness, they wanted to create community by providing healthy lifestyle products coupled with a positive customer interaction. They empower people to be healthy and happy by connecting people to the most nutrient dense ingredients on the planet in a loving and encouraging environment.

Green Brothers strives to make customers feel a sense of belonging. Their stores become a haven, a break from the worries outside and a place where you can meet with friends and family. Whether it is from enjoying a nutrient filled product, a pleasant interaction, or an educational exchange, they always want customers to leave better than they came.

Every Green Brothers store is part of a unique community, and they take their responsibility to be good neighbors seriously. Especially as a locally owned company, they do their part in supporting the community and those that live in it.

Green Brothers Juice Co. is seeking space in Charlotte for production and distribution purposes.

CONCEPT PHOTOS

JOSH NORRIS

Josh Norris began his career in finance at Northwestern Mutual and spent his free time training for Ironman triathlons. He and his wife, Stefanie, discovered a passion for nutrition and sharing that information with others after Josh became the "smoothie guy" in the office, often bringing homemade smoothies to meetings and taking orders from his colleagues.

After noting the lack of similar concepts in Charlotte, Josh Norris and his two brothers, Jacob and Jason, opened Green Brothers Juice Co.'s first location in Uptown's Bank of America Plaza in 2014. With a passionate interest in clean eating and overall wellness, they have developed health-focused, nutritional recipes where the fruit is always freshly squeeze, pressed and juiced behind the counter. Green Brothers currently has three locations and is continuing to expand across Charlotte, adding stores that people are drawn to and delivering an array of healthy products.
