ABOUT

At Sun's Kitchen, every bite is an adventure. They serve authentic homestyle Chinese cuisine found in China's street-side restaurants where the locals eat. A different world of tastes and cooking abounds outside of city center down the hidden back streets.

Sun's Kitchen' Chef makes your meal from scratch within minutes right in front of you. This approach ensures all food is fresh and authentic with a personal touch - they may steam, stew, and braise, tossing freshly picked ingredients into a wok.

It's a unique insight into a diverse culture where regional dishes have distinct tastes and styles. Thousands of years of history, geography, cooking practices, and resources influence these different appetites.

What makes their homestyle Chinese street foods attractive is the eclectic flavors, personal touch, authenticity, culture, and rich history that their fresh meals represent.

Sun's Kitchen serves cuisine created from the owner's dad's family recipes and street foods all over China.
