To,

Shri. Sunil Agarwal,
President,
Stainless Steel Merchants' Association (SSMA), Mumbai

Subject: "Manak Manthan" on IS 14756 – Standard for Stainless Steel Utensils in Collaboration with Stainless Steel Merchants' Association.

Sir,

The Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS), the National Standards Body of India established under the BIS Act 2016, is mandated to ensure the quality, safety, and reliability of products and services, thereby contributing to industrial growth and safeguarding consumer interests.

Manak Manthan is a unique initiative of BIS designed to engage stakeholders, promote awareness, and encourages dialogue on the formulation and implementation of Indian Standards. The programme serves as an interactive platform where industry representatives, experts, and professionals come together to share insights, discuss technical issues, and contribute to strengthening the standardization ecosystem.

In continuation of this initiative, BIS Mumbai Branch Office proposes to conduct a "Manak Manthan" seminar on IS 14756 – Standard for Stainless Steel Utensils in collaboration with the Stainless Steel Merchants' Association (SSMA) on 10th November 2025. The session will focus on the latest amendments, practical implementation aspects, and stakeholder interaction related to the standard.

The programme aims to create awareness among industry members and manufacturers about the scope and application of the standard and to address any queries or suggestions from stakeholders.

As the Stainless Steel Merchants' Association (SSMA) is the apex association representing all manufacturers of stainless steel utensils as per IS 14756, it is imperative that such a technical deliberation be held as a joint collaborative approach to standardization between BIS and SSMA. A detailed programme schedule will be prepared in consultation with SSMA accordingly.

Looking forward to a fruitful association between BIS and SSMA.

Regards,

Pinaki Gupta
Director & Head,
BIS Mumbai Branch Office
