

Theology Threads | Season 5: Episode 8 Notes | The Life You Are Meant To Have

What Every Christian Needs to Know

Summary

Everyone has something to tell you about this! There are conflicting answers with as many different people as you talk to. Books, politics, podcasts and personalities all have something to sell us. Even well meaning Christian thought leaders. But oftentimes even those who use Christian language mislead, though well intentioned, from exactly what the word tells us. Dr. Brian Jenkins leads us on a journey through the bible's promises of what life, considering the Atonement, was meant to look like.

You can email us with questions at hello@theothread.com

Reflection Questions

What's something in life that turned out to be harder than you expected, even after doing "everything right"?

Dr. Brian said, "We're not honest about the experience of Christianity." What do you think he means by that?

How has modern culture (or even Christian culture) reshaped what we think "blessing" looks like?

How can understanding the resurrection reshape how you handle hardship or disappointment?

