

The secret picture trap.

Pico is loving his new Dragon Dress-Up game, especially when 'GlitterKing22' says he looks cool! But when the new friend asks for a 'secret picture' and threatens to be mean if Pico says no, the fun stops fast. It's time for the Squad to defeat the 'Mean Message Monster' and show why real friends never ask for secrets.

It was a bright and buzzing day

Pico was playing a fun new dress-up game on the smart tablet

Pico was picking sparkly shoes for a dancing dragon when...

A message popped up

Ping!

Glitterking22

You look AWESOME! Wanna play a secret game?

Message

It was from someone called GlitterKing22

Pico said excitedly:

Ohhhhh!

Someone noticed my style!

You look AWESOME! Wanna play a secret game?

Let's be best Friends!

GlitterKing22 sent more messages

Let's be best Friends!

Want to share some secret pictures?

Message

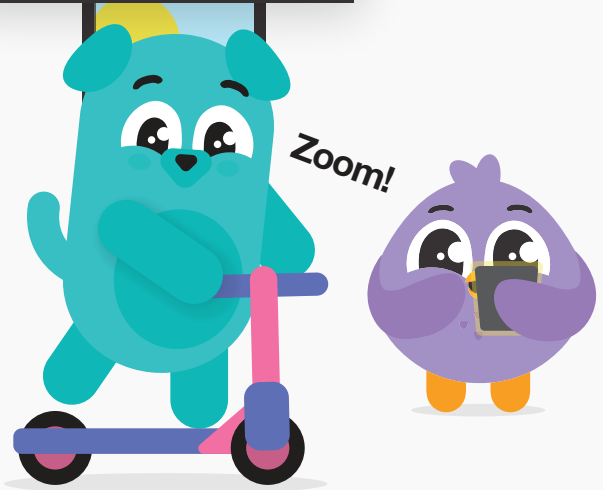

But don't tell anyone. It's just between us.

Message

Pico felt nervous ... but also curious
Pico didn't want to miss out

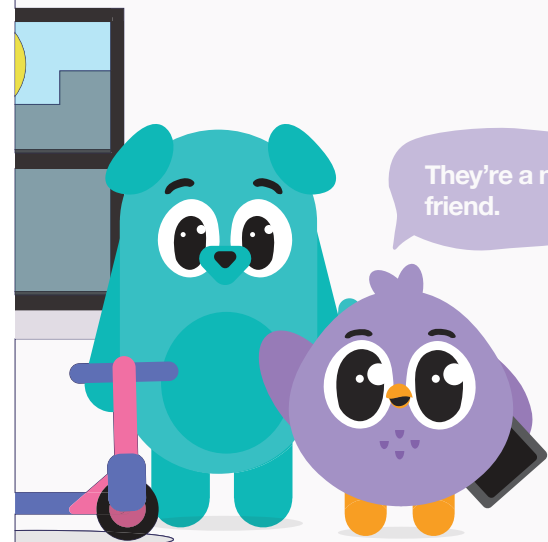

Moxo rolled in on a scooter

Pico! Who's GlitterKing22?

They're a new friend.

Why are they asking for secret pictures?

That sounds like a trap

Some people online pretend to be nice... but they try to trick you into sending pictures or doing things that feel weird or wrong.

The trio pulled up their favourite safety list

The safe & smart plan

1. Stop talking to the stranger
2. Tell a trusted grown up
3. Don't delete the messages
4. Block and Report them
5. Remember you are not in trouble.

Later that day Pico told Mum and showed her the messages

She gave Pico a big hug

I am really proud of you for speaking up

That was very smart

Pico smiled

If someone sends me sneaky messages again

I will say:

No way, I play the safe and smart way!
