

Pico's Pyjama Pickle

It was a rainy afternoon in Pixel Town, and Pico wanted to get cosy. When he spots a deal for 'Glow Pyjamas' for only £2, he clicks BUY faster than a puppy chasing a ball! But will his new outfit keep him warm... or just wipe his face?

It was a rainy afternoon in Pixel Town

Pico was scrolling on the tablet

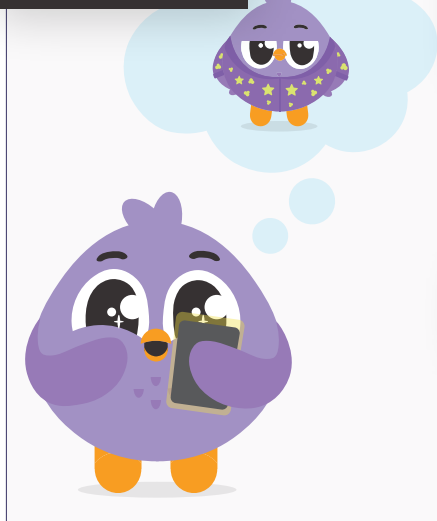

When an ad popped up

Ping!

His eyes sparkled

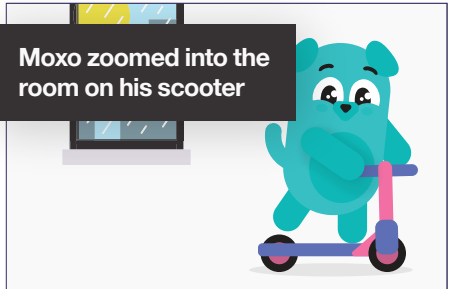

He clicked on the pop up advert faster than a puppy chasing a bouncy ball

90% OFF - ONLY £2

BUY NOW

Moxo zoomed into the room on his scooter

PICO! Did you just order mystery pyjamas from a new site you didn't know?

...Maybe

you should have asked a grown up first - Did you at least read through the site first?

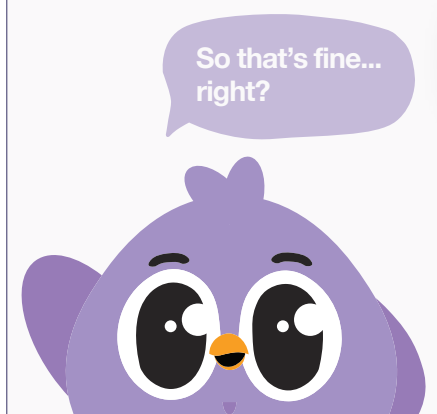

Luno said

Erm... It said: 'No returns, No refunds, No problems'

So that's fine... right?

Moxo facepalmed

That's the scammers national anthem

What went wrong?

Pico's "pyjamas" turned out to be a photo of pyjamas ... printed on a napkin

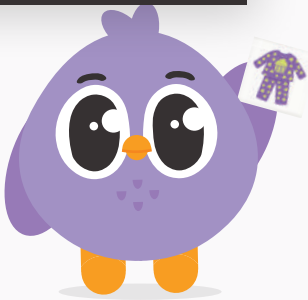

Luno flipped open the 'SAFE SHOPPING SQUAD' manual:

SAFE SHOPPING SQUAD.

- STOP and THINK, is the pop up advert offering you something too cheap.
- Ask your parents or a carer to check the site is really offering a deal.
- Look for returns info - if there isn't any, that's a problem.
- Ask a grown-up - Always ask before spending anything online.

Pico sighed, holding his napkin-pyjamas proudly

At least it glows a bit

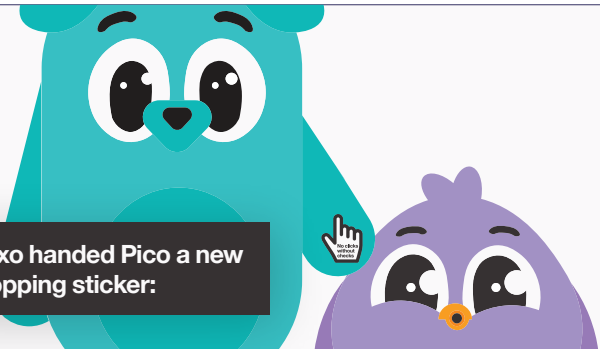

Luno said

That's just highlighter pen

Moxo handed Pico a new shopping sticker:

Moxo said "Remember: NO clicks without checks"

Next time, I'll ask first. I'd like real pyjamas I can wear... not wipe my face with.

