ADPList

This platform gives you instant access to mentees worldwide and lets you share knowledge through quick, free 1:1 sessions.

GrowthMentor

A space where founders and marketers seek hands-on growth advice — perfect if you want to monetize your expertise and work with startups.

Mentoring

Codementor

A platform for developers to share their expertise through live coding help, debugging, and tutoring – perfect if you want to monetize your skills while solving real tech problems.

IGotanOffer

Here you can coach ambitious candidates preparing for consulting and FAANG interviews – ideal for mentors with insider knowledge of case studies or hiring processes.

Career Contessa

A niche platform focused on women's career development, where mentors can support professionals in leadership, career transitions, and personal branding.

Mentoring

MentorCam

Lets you offer short, personalized video responses and live calls – great for mentors who want a lightweight, flexible format to share advice and build audience trust.

Mentoring Club

A volunteer-based community where mentors can give back by guiding mentees across tech, business, and product – perfect if you value impact and networking over monetization.

MicroMentor

A free nonprofit platform where you can offer mentoring to people all over the world – perfect if you want to give back by helping entrepreneurs and small business owners with advice, questions, and strategy.

Expert Networks & Consulting

GLG Gerson Lehrman Group

One of the largest expert networks — here you can earn by sharing your industry knowledge through paid 1:1 calls with corporate clients and investors.

G. Guidepoint

A global expert network that connects you with consulting opportunities across industries — perfect for monetizing your niche expertise through short-term calls.

CT Catalant

This platform focuses on project-based consulting — ideal if you want to work on strategy and execution with large enterprises, not just one-off calls.

Expanding Networks & Consulting

A marketplace for independent consultants and interim executives – great for those who want to land longer projects in transformation, operations, or leadership.

Works with Fortune 500 clients to place freelance consultants and subject matter experts – excellent if you want access to high-profile strategic projects.

Australia-based but global, this platform offers both expert calls and project work – best suited for consultants who want flexibility in types of engagements.

EXPANDING NETWORKS & CONSULTING

Connects professionals with clients for both quick Q&A consultations and bigger research projects – good entry point for building visibility as an expert.

One of the fastest-growing expert networks – here you can get paid to share insights with consulting firms and investors who need quick, precise industry knowledge.

A global research and expert network that goes beyond calls, giving you chances to contribute to in-depth interviews and reports used by top PE and consulting clients.

Freelance

You can bid on a huge variety of both small and large projects — hourly or fixed-price — allowing you to build a steady stream of clients globally.

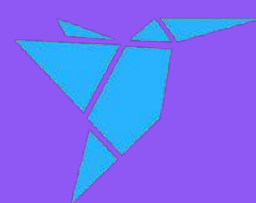

Great for packaging your skills into gigs (predefined services), so clients can buy directly without long negotiations — ideal if you like to set clear deliverables.

For those who prefer exclusivity — you pass screening, join a vetted talent pool, and work on higher-budget, high-quality projects.

Freelance

Freelancer.com

Offers many ways to make money (contests, fixed-price, hourly contracts) and a large client base – good if you're flexible about project types.

PeoplePerHour

Lets you submit proposals for posted jobs and offer pre-packaged services; you can also build reputation via “hourlie” style jobs.

Guru

Focuses on project security (milestones, safe payment) and lets you manage client relationships with tools for collaboration and recurring work.

Workana

Useful if you want access to Latin American / Spanish-speaking clients and projects; many tasks from small businesses and startups.

Andela

You get opportunities to work long-term with companies remotely after passing vetting for technical skills; good if you want more stable contracts, not just one-off gigs.

Creative & Community

Showcase your portfolio to a massive creative audience and attract freelance gigs or full-time offers directly from clients.

Perfect for designers — you can display visual work, join design jobs boards, and connect with startups looking for UI/UX talent.

Tailored for influencers and creators to monetize personal connections through paid chats, shoutouts, and community engagement.

DeviantArt

One of the largest creative communities online, giving you exposure, fan following, and a chance to monetize via prints and commissions.

Patreon

Build a steady income stream from your followers by offering memberships, exclusive content, and early access to your creative work.

99designs

Compete in design contests or work directly with clients who need logos, branding, and other visuals – great for growing your client list.

A commission-free freelance platform where you can sell services and projects directly to clients – good for independent creators.

A decentralized talent network where freelancers keep 100% of their rate – ideal for professionals seeking transparency and fair pay.

A newer, artist-friendly platform that combines portfolio hosting with social discovery, prioritizing creator control and visibility.

GoFractional

Join as a vetted fractional executive, get matched with companies that need your expertise, while the platform manages contracts and billing

Chief

An exclusive network for senior women leaders where you gain access to peer groups, executive coaching, and curated leadership programs

Flexing It

Connect with curated consulting projects in India and Southeast Asia, benchmark your rates with FeeBee, and grow your independent practice

Provide expertise in contractor management, payroll, and compliance to companies expanding globally and managing distributed teams

Get placed in board, advisory, or fractional leadership roles, and support companies with executive consulting and leadership evaluations

Build a public advisor profile, get discovered by businesses, and join paid advisory boards or one-off projects

CXO On Demand

Offer your C-suite experience on a fractional or interim basis, supporting organizations with executive leadership when full-time hire isn't needed

OnFrontiers

Monetize your domain knowledge by joining expert calls and advisory projects for investors, enterprises, and consultancies worldwide

ExpertConnect

A global expert network where senior professionals can join as advisors, take part in expert calls, and connect with consulting firms and investors

A startup-focused job platform where you can join early-stage teams as a founder, advisor, or fractional hire, and connect directly with founders.

A community for builders where you can share progress, find collaborators, and monetize small online businesses or side projects.

Join as a maker to showcase new products, get feedback from early adopters, and grow visibility with investors and the tech community.

A curated freelance job board that delivers high-quality gigs to your inbox, saving time on searching and filtering.

Focused on remote and flexible jobs, this platform vets postings to reduce scams and gives access to professional roles worldwide.

One of the largest remote-only job boards, featuring tech and non-tech roles with transparent salary ranges and global employers.

Exploring these platforms can give you valuable exposure – but building your own business requires structure, guidance, and support. That's where 12BRAVE comes in.

We built 12BRAVE Program – a step-by-step system for corporate professionals who want to test, earn, and grow their own business safely, surrounded by peers on the same path.
