About the child/children: SENNIES are delighted to support a warm and welcoming family of four with international roots. The father is Spanish and travels frequently for work, while the mother is Italian and works part-time from home. G13 attends a local private school and has coeliac disease, meaning the family home is strictly gluten-free. B11 attends a prep school in Richmond and is exceptionally gifted academically. He has diagnoses of ASD, ADHD, OCD, and dyspraxia, and is supported with medication and melatonin. His current therapies include Speech and Language Therapy and life coaching.

For over four years, B11 has been supported by a psychologist both at school and at home through a behavioural management plan, which focuses on clear targets, rewards, and consequences. Although he has a 13-year-old sister, the SEN nanny role will be solely focused on supporting B11.

B11 is a chatty, curious, and humorous child with a strong passion for science—particularly space and genetic engineering. He enjoys swimming and Kung Fu, attending a Kung Fu club and working towards his next belt, and it would be ideal for the Sennie to help motivate him to remain active. He also loves reading comic books, spending time in nature on walks, and gaming, particularly Minecraft.

This is a term-time-only role, providing dedicated support to B11. From Monday to Friday, responsibilities include school pick-up, homework support, after-school activities, and engaging in structured activities in line with the psychologist's behavioural plan. Support continues at the weekends, with similar duties on Saturdays and Sundays. The SEN nanny will play a key role in reinforcing strategies, supporting behaviour management, social and communication skills, emotional regulation, and executive functioning, offering consistency and focus to help B11 make positive choices and progress towards his goals.

Main duties / responsibilities:

- Provide dedicated, term-time support exclusively to B11.
- Collect B11 from his school in Richmond.
- Supervise homework and support learning activities.

REF: PPH 046

- Accompany B11 to after-school/extracurricular activities as required.
- Plan and engage him in structured, stimulating activities that support his cognitive, social, and emotional development.
- Implement and reinforce strategies from his psychologist's behavioural management plan.
- Support behaviour management, emotional regulation, social and communication skills, and executive functioning.
- Provide consistency and focus to help B11 make positive choices and progress toward his targets.
- Work collaboratively with the family and the full-time housekeeper to ensure a coordinated and supportive home environment.
