

PRESIDIO®

With Presidio, start your journey with Apple technology the right way

Work is no longer tied to offices or set hours. Teams are mobile and expect that they will be given the devices of choice, that enable them to do their best work. IT leaders need solutions that support innovation while staying secure and simple to manage.

iPhone, iPad and Mac – play an increasing role in this shift. They bring intuitive design, security built in, and straightforward management. To realise that value consistently, a structured approach helps, and that's where Presidio comes in.

A strategic stage in your Apple device journey

We help businesses adopt Apple devices successfully through our Apple Pilot Programme, a guided, low-risk approach designed to prove value in your environment. It's more than a technology trial; it's a strategic framework that validates the role of Apple devices, whether iPhone, iPad, or Mac, in your workflows.

Presidio brings IT, users, and business goals into alignment from day one. Our approach combines deep technical expertise, embedded governance, and people-first enablement, ensuring each stage of your Apple device adoption builds lasting momentum.

A proven framework for first-time success

Apple device adoption is about more than device deployment, it's about setting the stage for long-term business value. Presidio follows a tested, four-phase framework to ensure clarity, consistency, and confidence:

Plan and align

We start by assessing your business and IT landscape, identifying key challenges and opportunities, and defining success metrics tailored to your goals

Enablement and support

Through role-specific training and change management, we prepare your people for success, minimising disruption and maximising adoption

Evaluate and prepare for scale

We gather performance and user data to build a compelling business case for scaling, turning insights into actionable next steps
