

Building a Bond;

for Civic Infrastructure

On September 23rd, nestled in the Don Valley at Evergreen Brickworks, we gathered family offices, real estate developers, civic leaders, and impact investors with shared a commitment to building more resilient infrastructure. Together, we used systems thinking as a language to explore how a different approach to capital allocation could address the limitations of traditional investing mechanisms to build better investment vehicles and create community resilience and nature-based wealth.
