Overview

Heather has a strong civil practice particularly specialising in personal injury and all aspects of the OIC process. Heather covers all parts of a case from initial advice through to trial and costs issues thereafter. Heather is happy to provide initial advice by telephone or in writing in relation to all aspects of a case and to draft pleadings. Heather always demonstrates excellent advocacy skills over a wide spectrum of hearings from applications and other preliminary hearings through to trial. Heather maintains a flexible approach to conferences and is willing to conduct the same in Chambers, Solicitors office, via video link or at the lay clients home.
