

Name

Jack Moore

Year of Call

2021

Areas of Law

Commercial Law, Civil Law, Personal Injury, Professional Negligence, Landlord and Tenant, Employment Law, Property, Criminal Law, Construction

Overview

Jack joined Chambers as a tenant in 2022 following successful completion of a common law pupillage under the supervision of Karina Champion. Principally undertaking commercial and civil matters, Jack has advised and appeared in a wide range of cases, gaining valuable and transferrable experience which continues to shape his practice.

He is a conscientious and professional advocate, engaging and personable both inside and outside the courtroom. Jack is committed to accommodating urgent timetables and adapting to the sensitivities of each case.

Education

- BPTC, Nottingham Law SchoolGDL, Nottingham Law School
- MSc Middle Eastern Studies & Arabic, University of Edinburgh (including period of study at Birzeit University, Palestine)
- BA (Hons) Theology, University of Durham (including year abroad at University of Tübingen, Germany)

Further Information

In commercial law, Jack undertakes a wide variety of work, including commercial and personal insolvency and commercial debt cases. He accepts instructions in commercial cases of all types and has delivered talks on unfair prejudice petitions and freezing injunctions. He also has experience with banking and Consumer Credit Act claims, including PPI and PCP matters.

In civil law, Jack's practice spans all tracks and includes personal injury, professional negligence, credit hire, employers' liability, and public liability claims, including highways cases. He is highly experienced with Official Injury Claim (OIC) work and has delivered talks on Highways Act claims, industrial disease (COSHH), and QOCS.

Jack is also experienced in landlord and tenant matters, advising and appearing in applications for vacant possession and representing both landlords and tenants.

In employment law, Jack is developing a busy practice, advising in matters of unfair and unlawful dismissal, constructive dismissal, and workplace discrimination.

Beyond these core areas, Jack has undertaken significant work in the First Tier Property Tribunal on property matters, in the Crown Court and Magistrates' Court on criminal matters, as well as in housing disrepair and construction cases.