BAFTA & RTS-winning unscripted director specialising in premium comedy entertainment and adventure formats with a strong filmic sensibility. Comfortable leading large teams through complex, high-pressure shoots anywhere in the world — always with the same goal: clarity, trust, and something that looks great.

- Calm leadership in fast-moving actuality
- Tonal control across comedy, jeopardy and challenge formats
- Shaping how a show looks and feels from the ground up

KEY CREDITS

THE F*CK IT LIST: WITH ALAN CARR (Series 1) — Amazon Prime / Zeppotron • Series Director

Directed high-gloss location set pieces across 4 countries — balancing live action and actuality with a cinematic finish.

ROB & ROMESH VS (Series 1–9) — Sky Max / CPL • Series Director

Nine series in, and we're still finding new ways to make it better. Multi-unit global shoots, a signature visual identity, and a show that's grown with every series.

GO HARD OR GO HOME (Series 1) — BBC / Wall to Wall • Series Director

Single-take live challenges in extreme environments — specialist crews, built-in editorial instinct, and a visual finish that punched well above its budget.

I'M A CELEBRITY LAUNCH EP (Series 21) — ITV / ITV Studios • Director

Coordinated multiple units, drones, Cineflex and FPV across a large-scale launch episode. Execs said it delivered the scale and spectacle of the Australian series. In Wales.

MADE IN KOREA (Series 1) — BBC / Moon & Back • Series Director

Five British lads, three months, one of Seoul's most prestigious music agencies — and the task of turning them into a K-pop supergroup. Character-led, culturally immersive, and stylishly shot across a six-month production in South Korea.

OUTSIDERS (Series 1) — Dave / Renegade • Series Director

Simultaneous multi-unit coverage across competing pairs, coordinating everything around David Mitchell's nightly debrief. Tonal consistency across a fast-moving, unpredictable format.
