

Lyttelton Port Company Workshops, Christchurch

Hawkins Construction

Carpentry and builder's works packages

Hawkins engaged Farrell Construction to deliver carpentry and general builder's work packages for the new Lyttelton Port Company workshops. Our scope included cladding and a wide range of structural and finishing tasks requiring experienced tradesmen.

With an average of 15+ staff onsite, Farrell supplied a foreman and team of trade-qualified carpenters to meet programme and quality expectations. Our proven experience working under strict health and safety requirements at Christchurch Airport and the University of Canterbury was a key factor in our selection.

The project was delivered collaboratively, on time, and to the required standard.
