

PB Tech Christchurch HQ

Transocean Limited

Sector
Commercial

Service
Main contractor:
New build

Timeframe
10 months
Completion 2020

Consultants
Architect: Gravitas
Other Consultants:
Miyamoto, Powell Fenwick

A new warehouse, office and retail showroom

Scope

PB Tech is New Zealand's largest computing and IT retailer, with a presence across the country. Farrell Construction was engaged under a lump-sum bid to deliver their new Christchurch headquarters, made up of a 600m² warehouse and retail showroom alongside a two-storey, 400m² office building.

Process

The construction comprised a gravel raft foundation with beam base on slab, tilt panel structure and com-floor system for the office area, complemented by extensive shopfront glazing to the retail frontage. We also delivered all associated civil works, and our carpentry team carried out all trade works required.

Solution

Delivered in approximately eight months to practical completion, the project was finished to the agreed programme, budget and quality expectations. The new Christchurch headquarters provide PB Tech with modern, future-proofed facilities to support its operations and growth in the South Island.

