

Waipapa – Acute Services Building (Tower 3)

Naylor Love

Delivering precision carpentry and fit-out solutions within one of New Zealand's most complex healthcare environments.

Scope

Waipapa – Acute Services Building (Tower 3) at Christchurch Hospital is a major healthcare facility delivering acute care services including operating theatres, ICU, emergency, and clinical environments requiring strict compliance and precision.

Process

Our role as carpentry subcontractor included internal and external framing and finishing carpentry within a highly serviced environment requiring exacting tolerances and quality standards. Working within a tightly programmed project, we coordinated closely with the main contractor and specialist trades to manage sequencing, service integration, and evolving design requirements across clinical and back-of-house areas. Supported by experienced site leadership and a scalable workforce, we maintained delivery across multiple work fronts while upholding strict health and safety standards.

Solution

Our involvement in Waipapa Tower 3 reflects our capability to deliver high-quality carpentry and fit-out works where precision, coordination, and programme certainty are essential.
