

- Returning to our senses, remembering the roots of our humanity, reconnecting to our place amongst all things, and receiving the gift of this moment.
- An Experiential Learning Journey
 Designed for Coaches.
- The world's first somatic coach training to be awarded a Level 2 accreditation by the International Coaching Federation.
- Body-Oriented Coaching is an integrative framework. It's the unity of knowledge and practice from a number of well-established and respected modalities. And coaching is the glue that holds it all together.
- Working with the body's intelligence both online and in-person.
- It's not just about becoming a body-oriented coach, it's about finding new ways of being in the world, being with others, and being with yourself.

A WORD FROM NATHAN BLAIR

Journey of Reconnection

We are moving from a consciousness of separation to one of integration, shaped in part by climate change, the internet, growing awareness of systemic oppression, and a global pandemic.

Our lack of attunement to self, others, and the environment means we're becoming increasingly disembodied, our systems are collapsing, and the planet is suffering. But this attunement isn't completely lost to us. Many Indigenous cultures still have an acute sense of their connection to all things, and while we may not be able to fully know for ourselves the depth of this kind of attunement, we can begin to move closer to it.

It's not about attaining a superpower or transcending reality, rather it's about remembering the roots of our humanity. Additionally, it's not about reaching for an idea of whom we want to be, or whom we think we should be; it's about being who we are.

Feet on the ground, feeling this body, breathing this air, living on this planet. Our experience of ourselves, just as we are, is the doorway to real and lasting change. Now, more than ever, this is what we are being called to, not only for our species but also for our planet.

The Somatic School exists to create opportunities for experiencing attunement to ourselves, each other, and the environment, and in doing soembrace our wholeness.

Nathan Blair,

FOUNDER

"The curious paradox is that when I accept myself just as I am, then I can change."

CARL ROGERS

The Accredited Diploma in Body-Oriented Coaching comprises four different types of training: Modules and Integration Calls, the Webinar Series, and Practicums.

The Modules and Integration Calls are at the very core of the training. These are the experiential two-day training sessions and follow-up calls where you will learn the core skills and the meta-competencies of Body-Oriented Coaching.

There are two certification paths through the Diploma. Path 1 is for certification as a Body-oriented Coach; and Path 2 is for full certification at Level 2.

The Accredited Diploma in Body-Oriented Coaching is accredited by the ICF for 171.5 program hours of coach-specific education and training.

Certifying through Path 2 (Level 2)

means you will then be able to more easily apply to the ICF for a higher level of certification – an ICF credential – at either ACC or PCC.

Embody & Integrate

Body-Oriented Coaching is intended to be fully modular with your current practice.

This means you are free to integrate as little or as much of the skills and competencies into your way of working as you like, depending on what is called for in the moment.

Module 1: Foundations

These are the Foundations upon which we will build your competency as a Body-Oriented Coach. Enabling you to:

- Simplify your client work and ground your practice in coaching essentials
- Meet your clients exactly where they're at
- Navigate coaching conversations with ease
- O Understand the distinction between conceptual self-awareness and embodied self-awareness
- Facilitate effective Body-Oriented Coaching interventions
- Develop a network understanding of the bodymind to support successful coaching outcomes

Module 2: Presence & Sense

Draw on biology, anatomy and interpersonal neurobiology to develop your understanding of the bodymind. Through the use of subtle and non-intrusive methods, learn how to help your clients come into contact with the body, as sensed in the present moment. Enabling you to:

- Help your clients re-sensitize and identify their "felt sense"; their inherent capacity for self-discovery
- What to do if your client doesn't feel "anything" or feels "too much"
- Learn about the three classes of embodied perception (Interoception, Exteroception, and Proprioception) and their role in coaching

Module 3: Resource & Regulate

Ensure both coach and client are able to work at somatic depth, without feeling out of their depth. Apply interventions that are resourcing, responsive and responsible. Enabling you to:

- Apply Polyvagal Theory within sessions for safe, nervous-system conscious coaching
- Create and maintain co-regulation in every session
- Draw on embodied acting and Improv principles and the neurobiology of play
- Support yourself and your clients into easeful, resourceful states

Module 4: Attune & Resonate

Learn how to use your whole self as an instrument so that you can adjust to your client and come into resonance with them. Bring habitual behaviours to the client's consciousness and unlock their meaning and impact on their experience. Enabling you to:

- Discover how to attune to verbal and non-verbal communication
- Maximise the capacities of your awareness and your attention
- O Co-create and participate in mindful Experiments that evoke unconscious reactions for self-exploration
- Work with your biological resonance circuitry to enhance your intuition

Work with intentional self-contact in a way that is safe, supportive and in service of your clients. What if we could explore options, make plans, and form strategies from a more embodied place? Enabling you to:

- Understand the generative application of "non-doing" touch
- Use physical experiments to open up the client's process by engaging their whole body through posture, shape and form
- O Discover the remarkable clarity made available in even the most complex of problems through Constellation work
- Facilitate 1:1 Systemic Constellations for a top-down-bottom-up approach to planning, strategising, exploring options and plotting ways forward

Module 6: Embody & Integrate

Tap into the aliveness of the body and learn how to help clients take conscious action. Support your clients to install positive states as enduring traits through the deliberate internalisation of positive experiences in implicit memory. Enabling you to:

- O Create a space in which clients can increase self-awareness and insight through movement
- O Consciously utilise mirror neurons to effect change
- Offer clients an experiential way to work out their issues and help them explore ways to use their newly acquired knowledge
- O Bring clients into alignment through nourishing experiences and neural integration

INCLUDED IN

Your Learning Journey

Welcome and Completion Sessions

Holding and supporting you as you begin and complete your learning journey.

Practicums

Facilitated Practicums every month, providing opportunities to practice the skills learnt on the Modules and receive live feedback from the Trainer and fellow Somanauts. It is impossible to overstate the value of having your coaching observed by those who want to see you soar.

Focused Webinars support your burgeoning Body-Oriented Coaching practice, including: Contracting for Body-Oriented Coaching, Power & Empowerment, Trauma & the Boundaries of Body-Oriented Coaching, Self-care for Coaches, and Cultivating Embodied Self-awareness.

Integration Sessions

Each Module comes with an Integration Call afterwards to help consolidate and integrate the learning.

ICF Mentor Coaching

A deep dive into the International Coaching Federation (ICF) Core Competencies and Code of Ethics. Three two-hour group mentoring sessions and three 90 minute 1:1 sessions make up the 10 hours of ICF Mentoring required for you to apply for your ACC Credentials with the ICF.

Regulation Station

A series of interactive sessions to learn simple practices for self-regulation for nervous system health and resilience.

Wellness Pod

Available during all Modules. A supportive, non-judgmental space to pause, reflect, and reconnect before rejoining the group.

Our Paid Graduate Programmes

Ongoing Learning Journey

Certificate in Body-Oriented Group Coaching

A three-day immersive training for coaches, facilitators, and practitioners looking to integrate somatics into group work.

The certificate offers an experiential exploration of the skills needed to create, hold, and guide powerful group experiences. You'll learn how to apply somatic interventions such as Structured Constellations, Verbal Experiments, and Social Presencing Theatre by Theory U. With a focus on presence, resourcing, and intentional design, you'll leave equipped with a practical skillset to facilitate your own Body-Oriented group programmes.

The Accelerator

An experiential refresh of key skills from the 6 Core Modules and an incubator to accelerate your coaching practice—held twice monthly over three months.

Practise with fellow Somanauts and receive tailored feedback from your course facilitator in a supportive space. By the end of the programme you will have activated your voice as a Body-Oriented Coach

1:1 Supervision

Develop your unique coaching identity rooted in Body-Oriented approaches. You will explore client sessions through a strengths-based, somatic lens, and receive ethical grounding and guidance when navigating complex or sticky situations.

Across four hour-long 1:1 sessions, supervision is for those looking to refine interventions, process energetic residue from sessions, reflect on dynamics with clients and reconnect with your deeper why.

ICF Mentoring and Accreditation

The world's first somatic coach training to be awarded a Level 2 accreditation by the International Coaching Federation

holder with the ICF.

Graduates from Level 2 education and training programmes may apply for the Professional Certified Coach (PCC) Credential using the Level 2 application path if they meet the credentialing requirements. This course also meets the requirements for ACC and can be used to fulfil your CCE needs if you are already a credential 10.5 hours of ICF Mentor Coaching are included as part of the course. They are structured as three twohour sessions of group mentoring, and three 90-minute sessions of 1:1 mentoring.

The ICF Mentor Coaching sessions are a training ground for participants to sharpen their coaching skills, integrate and embody different dimensions of classical coaching, hone their craft and generally move to mastery. You will receive the dates for the group calls separately and will be invited to book them. You will also receive the booking link for your 1:1's at your first group call. All mentor coaching hours need to be completed within 12 months of the start of your course.

A Level 2 accreditation with the International Coaching Federation (ICF) refers to a coach training program that meets the rigorous standards set by the ICF for providing advanced coaching skills and knowledge.

Our Diploma covers the requisite 171.5 hours of formal training and it includes the mentoring hours you will need to apply for the ACC (Associate Certified Coach) or PCC (Professional Certified Coach) credentials. This level of certification demonstrates a high level of competence in coaching and is globally recognised as a professional standard in the field.
