Ethical And Responsible Supply Chain Statement

Bellagio Stone Ltd takes the ethical and responsible sourcing of all materials used within our business very seriously.

Respect for human rights is fundamental to the way we operate and forms an important part of our company values. We are committed to working with suppliers who share our expectations of ethical business practices and responsible sourcing. As part of our due diligence, we purchase materials through established UK suppliers and require appropriate declarations and statements confirming that the materials they supply have been sourced responsibly and in accordance with recognised ethical and human rights standards in their country of origin.

We expect our suppliers to ensure that the quarries, manufacturers and producers within their supply chains operate responsibly, with appropriate labour standards and regular inspections. This includes ensuring that there is no child labour, forced labour, bonded labour or other exploitative employment practices.

We also expect appropriate standards of worker welfare, health and safety, fair treatment and working conditions to be maintained throughout the supply chain. Where appropriate, we seek further assurances from suppliers, including copies of relevant company policies, ethical sourcing declarations and independent audit reports. We recognise that supply chains can extend across different countries and industries, and that ongoing engagement with suppliers is an important part of identifying and addressing potential risks.

We recognise the importance of additional scrutiny where materials originate from countries or regions that may present heightened human rights or labour risks. We therefore look to obtain appropriate supporting information and assurance from our suppliers regarding their sourcing arrangements and the standards maintained by their upstream producers.

Many of our suppliers are also members of recognised industry initiatives and organisations that promote improvements in ethical sourcing and seek to eradicate exploitative labour practices.

The necessary declarations, statements and supporting documentation are retained on file and are available for review upon request.

Bellagio Stone Ltd is committed to maintaining these standards and continually improving our approach to ethical and responsible sourcing throughout our supply chain.