To all parties contesting the Victorian election

Victorians are living with net debt that's approaching $200 billion – the highest of any State. Interest alone costs us $8.9 billion a year - about $24 million a day. Our debt is around the same as that of New South Wales, Queensland and Tasmania combined.

That's money that can't be spent on hospitals, schools, housing, better roads or services.

When governments spend more than they collect, the debt and repayments grow. This downward spiral means less for every Victorian, makes it harder for small businesses to thrive and worst of all, it's a burden we will leave for the next generation of Victorians.

That's why we, as Victorians, are urging all political leaders to step up and commit to driving down the debt. Not just promises, but real action.

We have a simple question: what is your plan to pay down Victoria's massive debt?

Victoria doesn't need a miracle, we need a credible plan.
