

AME Defense Consortium

Accelerate Improvement. Strengthen Performance. Learn Together.

Is your organization part of the defense supply chain or a support service to the defense industry? If you're looking to accelerate your improvement journey, deliver greater value to your customers, and engage your workforce at a deeper level, AME Defense offers a powerful path forward. Join a collaborative learning network where companies come together to share best practices, benchmark performance, and learn directly from experienced practitioners committed to operational excellence.

Membership is open to organizations from any industry with a desire to learn, share, and continuously improve, including manufacturing, health care, financial services, software and information technology, distribution, logistics, Advanced technology, and more.

Why the AME Defense Consortium?

- Collaborative Learning Network -Connect with peer companies on the continuous improvement journey. Learn from each other through site visits, workshops, roundtables, and shared problem-solving.
- Practitioner-to-Practitioner Engagement - Consortia are facilitated by highly qualified practitioners who guide learning, foster collaboration, and help members accelerate progress.
- Performance Excellence Focus - Members gain access to proven methods, tools, and insights that strengthen operational performance, leadership, and workforce engagement.

About AME

The Consortia program is hosted by the Association for Manufacturing Excellence - AME, a nonprofit organization representing more than 4,000 lean and continuous improvement professionals across North America and beyond. AME has been a trusted leader in operational excellence for over 4 decades, helping organizations build cultures of learning, innovation, and continuous improvement.

Membership Details

- Annual membership fee: $6,000 which Includes AME corporate membership and provides full access to consortium activities, events, and shared learning opportunities

Join the AME Defense Consortium

Become part of a community committed to excellence. Strengthen your organization's capabilities, accelerate improvement, and connect with peers who share your passion for learning and performance and supporting national defense.

To learn more about AME member benefits for AME Consortia members, download this brochure. Questions or to learn more, contact KHumphrey@AME.org