INFORMATION. CONTROL. PRODUCTION.

DocSecBox for Industry

SECURE INFORMATION EXCHANGE FOR A CONNECTED INDUSTRY.

In modern production environments, sensitive information must be exchanged quickly and reliably between companies, sites, machines, employees, suppliers, and service partners.

Design documents, technical drawings, production data, maintenance documentation, or quality information represent valuable corporate knowledge in this process.

So that information is available where it's needed – and stays under your control.

DocSecBox for Industry creates a controlled platform for the secure exchange of business-critical documents and information – within your company and across company boundaries.

Your data. Your infrastructure. Your control.

Server-Based Encryption protects your data directly on your server – under your control – or in a data center you trust.

Self-Hosted Deployment enables operation within your own infrastructure or infrastructure of your choosing.

Two-Factor Authentication (2FA) and fine-grained access control ensure that sensitive information is available only to authorized individuals and partners.

Complete Traceability ensures transparent, auditable processes across relevant activities. The internal API allows DocSecBox to be integrated into existing applications, machine environments, and business processes – in a controlled way and without dependency on a public REST API.

Developed for Industry.

Engineering & Development
Securely exchange drawings, specifications, and technical documentation.

Production & Machines
Provide production-relevant information in a controlled way between systems and stakeholders.

Maintenance & Service
Make service documents, maintenance plans, and technical information securely available.

Quality & Documentation
Exchange test reports, certificates, and quality-relevant documents in a traceable way.

Service & After-Sales
Supply customers and service teams with the information they need, when they need it.

Suppliers & Partners
Securely share sensitive data across company boundaries.

Locations & International Collaboration
Exchange information in a controlled way between plants, subsidiaries, and partner companies.

So that information is available where it's needed – and stays under your control.
