About Darragh

After surviving a violent attack in Ireland, Darragh Harvey rebuilt his life from the ground up turning a scar into a symbol of strength.

Now based in the U.S., he delivers raw, insightful keynotes that challenge audiences to rethink resilience, accountability, and how societies respond to crime and trauma.

A certified Project Management Professional (PMP) with a decade in risk management, Darragh combines lived experience with structured thinking, showing organizations and individuals alike how to rebuild after a crisis and lead with courage.
