“Some things I discovered about myself was that I’m actually really good at photography and might pursue it in the future. I was inspired to explore my creativity. It made me see things in a different way.”
— Harmony, 8th Grade Student, Broad Street School, Bridgeton, NJ, Cumberland County

Creative Beginnings

We train teachers and work directly with our youngest learners to explore open-ended inquiry and hands-on art-making.

Arts Impact Initiative

We partner with educators and funders to bring teaching artists to schools, giving many children their first chance to experience live performance and co-create art with a professional artist.

AIE

We partner with the New Jersey State Council on the Arts to provide schools with 20 days of arts education programming including performance, hands-on workshops and a school-wide culminating event.

943 assembly programs

1,844 workshops & residencies

204 teacher professional learning sessions

“Making art is playing and laughing and are as vital to our survival as food, water, shelter.”
— Anonymous APLI Feedback from the “Intentional Cultivation of Joy” workshop

Arts Lab

We meet schools where they are willing and able to embrace arts learning by offering performances, workshops, multi-day residencies, teacher professional learning, and family arts events.

Impact on Students

- United We Discover programming advanced Disability equity by providing 2,606 students with programs that promote positive perceptions of Disabled identities and modeled accessible arts-based teaching.
- NEW OFFERINGS: 12 teaching artists including 2 from the Narragansett Indian Tribe and 4 Spanish/English assemblies.

Organizational Accountability

- Updated hiring practices to improve accessibility for candidates. Initiated compensation practice for finalist candidates.

Communications

- At the Creating Change 2023 conference, Michele Russo contributed to How We Got Started and How We Built Resilience: Initiating and Learning from DEI Work at Your Arts Organization.
- YANJEP.org analyzed for accessibility and received a 93% score.

Continuous Learning

- Our Board/Staff/Artist retreat included sessions on Universal Design for Learning and LGBTQ+ curriculum.
