

Dark Eyewear. Innate Luxury.

We set out to create art you can wear.

Bio

DRK is a London-based luxury eyewear house dedicated to rare, sculptural frames produced in strictly limited quantities. Each piece is conceived as a wearable art object rather than a seasonal product – guided by craftsmanship, restraint, and intention. We do not manufacture frames. We forge icons.

DRK Kurai · Debut Collection

Limited to 333 individually numbered pieces.
Produced in Japan by application only.
Retail: $1,990 USD

The Impossible Twist

Temples hand-sculpted from solid titanium in true 3D – never pressed flat. A technique considered impossible before DRK pioneered it.

The Dragon Tip

Each temple terminates in a masterfully sculpted dragon head, rendered with horological precision. Functionally a counterweight, it balances the frame behind the ear. Art and engineering as one.

Horological Lens Setting

Each lens secured with micro torque-head screws in a hand-executed process demanding an unwavering hand, ensuring lifetime optical alignment.

Press Inquiries

press@drkeyewear.com

Instagram

@drkeyewear

Website

drkeyewear.com

High-Resolution Images

Available via the Press page at drkeyewear.com/press

Acquisition

DRK operates an application model. Prospective owners apply for the opportunity to purchase. No conventional retail. The initial release is strictly limited to 333 numbered pieces, launching May 2026.