

Short Term Accounting Support

The Issue

Finance teams can face crunch periods around reporting season. At other times, projects may arise which require short term assistance which can bring specialist knowledge to the finance team. It is often difficult to find the right skillset for that short period.

What we do for you

Our audit and accounting teams naturally have a strong finance background. The team can manage accounting issues across all entities including listed companies and large private companies in various industries. In addition, we are familiar with accounting guidelines, practice statements and regulations. We are used to dealing with complex standards, including but not limited to the following –

- Accounting for complex restructuring, capital raisings, demergers, acquisitions, and disposals
- Technical accounting advice on complex topics
- Consolidation, lease accounting, share-based payments and other calculations
- Financial statement preparation and disclosures

We can assist you, subject to independence requirements, by providing team members with the right experience for short -term secondment to your finance team or project team.

The Benefits

The benefits to you are:

1. You can at short notice solve pressing resource issues.
2. The resource you are seeking may require specialised knowledge and is not easily found in the market. Our team availability may assist you in overcoming this issue.
3. You are relieved from making a long-term commitment to solve what might be a short-term requirement.
4. The risk of lack of experience in the new hire is removed.
