

OSHA Aerial Lift/MEWP Qualification Training
(1 day)

This Competent Person Training course goes far beyond the basic awareness level that many OSHA courses provide for MEWPs. Since the competent person is required to make critical decisions, they must receive much more in-depth training to create a safe environment for workers, as outlined in the OSHA standards. This MEWP (Bucket Truck/Aerial Lift Operator) program teaches the technical knowledge required to operate safely and the inspection knowledge to recognize concerns.

This program ensures equipment operators are fully aware of the hazards associated with MEWPs and understand their responsibility for continual safety. Course covers boom supported, scissor and articulating MEWP lift types with hands-on training.

This program has a compliance basis of OSHA & New ANSI A-92 regulations and specific state and Government agency requirements where applicable. Learn the technical aspects of MEWPs to keep your operations safe. This course is applicable to US and Canadian standards and regulations.

- Observing for unsafe conditions
- Prevention of unsafe acts
- Pre-use inspection
- Safety procedures for operators
- Operating and maneuvering skills
- Ground crew safety
- Use of ground controls
- Capacity limitations.
- Out of level precautions
- Battery safety and charging
- Refueling safety
- Periodic inspection requirements
- Hands-on operation and inspection
- Characteristics of different types of equipment
- Definitions
- Understanding ANSI-92 requirements
- Injury Reduction Impact on New Ruling
- Understanding the specific Groups and classifications of the MEWPs
- Eliminating Hazards
- Employee rights and responsibilities

Students will receive a Certificate of Completion and handout materials. Students will receive both classroom and practical (hands-on) instruction. Each student will have to score above 80% on the written and practical examinations.

Time: 8 am to 5 pm

Tuition: $410.00 per student (1 Written Exam and 1 Practical Exam)

Location: 1010 64th St NW Albuquerque, NM 87121

For information concerning this course or other PCC Training Courses please contact:
Cara Webb, Office Manager at (505) 286-1883