LEADING THE WAY IN INTELLIGENT DESIGN AND REFINED BUILD

By Andrii Yeksarov, Founder of ATRIO

I started ATRIO with a clear goal — to make the process of creating great spaces easier, smarter, and more enjoyable for people and businesses.

Over the years, I noticed how many clients were left juggling different teams, unclear timelines, and designs that didn't quite work in real life. That's why ATRIO was built to do more than just design. We lead the entire journey — from the first idea all the way to a finished space you can walk into and love.

At ATRIO, we guide every step of the process — design, build, procurement, and logistics — so our clients don't have to stress. Whether it's a home, a workspace, or a new development, we bring everything together in one smooth, well-managed experience. The result? Time and money saved, and a final result that looks and feels right.

We believe in design that works beautifully — not just for today, but for years to come. Our team is creative and practical, and always thinks one step ahead. Every project is different, so we take time to understand your goals and create solutions that truly fit.

Working with ATRIO means having someone on your side — someone who listens and makes the process simple and clear. We're here to deliver not just high-end design, but real peace of mind.

ATRIO's portfolio spans the UK and international markets, blending modern sophistication with intelligent, thoughtful execution.

I take inspiration from travel, history, and nature.

With over a decade of experience in interiors, business, and project management, my vision is to establish ATRIO as a leader in high-end interiors—a brand known for setting new benchmarks in quality and client care. Our approach is built on trust, communication, and delivery.

We don't just design; we simplify decisions, manage complexity, and keep projects moving forward.

Great spaces don't happen by accident. They're built on smart thinking, strong partnerships, and a clear vision from start to finish. That's what ATRIO is all about.

THE AWARD-WINNING MAYAN RESTAURANT PROJECT

By Andrii Yekсарov, Founder of ATRIO

One of the best examples of ATRIO's all-in-one approach is the Mayan Restaurant Project — a standout that brought together our creative thinking, technical precision, and hands-on delivery.

The client came to us with a bold brief: to create a high-end dining space that felt immersive, emotional, and rooted in Mayan heritage. They didn't just want a beautiful restaurant — they wanted a transportive experience. We took on the full journey, from initial concept through to the final build, ensuring that every detail supported the original vision.

Inspired by ancient Mayan architecture and natural Central American landscapes, I led the design with a focus on authenticity, atmosphere, and elegance. We used a palette of deep earthy tones, lush greens, and warm golds, layered with organic textures like stone, wood, and handmade finishes. The result was a space that felt grounded, soulful, and elevated — a modern interpretation of a rich cultural story.

Our build team worked hand-in-hand with our design team, making sure that no detail was lost in translation. We sourced custom pieces, collaborated with artisan makers, and managed every element — from lighting design to furniture installation — to ensure consistency in quality and experience.

The restaurant doesn't just look good — it feels right. It's a space that tells a story through texture, light, and material. Guests feel transported the moment they enter, and that emotional impact is what sets it apart.

That attention to detail and seamless delivery is what earned us the UK Regional Winner title at the International Design Awards in 2024. It was a proud moment, not just because we were recognised, but because it proved what's possible when design and build come together under one roof.

At ATRIO, projects like this are more than just spaces — they're experiences. And when you get the process right, the result speaks for itself.
