MARK YOUR CALENDAR...

Second Saturday of every month

Birmingham's biggest artisan market returns on Saturday, 12th April, and in 2025, it's coming back bigger than ever! Taking over Greenfield Crescent on the second Saturday of every month, the Edgbaston Village Artisan Market boasts up to 80 stalls filled with high-quality artisan food, drink, arts, and crafts. Whether you're a devoted market-goer or a first-time visitor, this is one event you won't want to miss.

What to Expect

Each month, the market features a handpicked selection of independent traders, offering everything from fresh produce and gourmet treats to handcrafted jewellery, home décor, and unique gifts.

As you explore the bustling stalls, take time to enjoy Edgbaston Village's fantastic cafés, bars, and restaurants. Whether you're in the mood for a relaxed brunch, a three-course meal, or a refreshing drink, you'll find plenty of options to complete your day out.

A Celebration of Community

More than just a shopping destination, the Edgbaston Village Artisan Market is a true celebration of community spirit with live music from local musicians providing the perfect soundtrack to your visit. Families are encouraged to bring their little ones along, and even your four-legged friends can join in the fun as you explore the market.

Getting There

Edgbaston Village is easily accessible by public transport, car, bike, or on foot:

By Train: The nearest station is Five Ways, just a 10-minute walk from Greenfield Crescent. Birmingham New Street Station is approximately 20 minutes on foot or a short bus ride away.

By Metro: The Edgbaston Village metro stop is just a 2-minute walk, making it easier than ever to reach the market from central Birmingham and beyond.

By Bus: Several bus routes serve Edgbaston Village, with stops nearby on Calthorpe Road and Harborne Road.

By Car: Parking is available, including limited on-street parking and pay-and-display.

By Bike or Foot: The area is pedestrian- and cycle-friendly, with plenty of bike racks available.

The Perfect Day Out

Nestled in the heart of Edgbaston Village, the market is surrounded by an area renowned for its heritage charm and appeal. From stylish boutiques and award-winning restaurants to lush green spaces and a thriving café culture, it's the perfect place to spend a full day exploring.

So, whether you're looking for handmade treasures, gourmet delights, or simply a great atmosphere, the Edgbaston Village Artisan Market is the place to be. Follow Edgbaston Village on social media for updates on vendors, special events, and seasonal highlights. See you there!
