

Privacy Policy – Digivans UK

Last updated: [17th December 2025]

Introduction

Digivans UK is committed to protecting and respecting your privacy. This Privacy Policy explains how we collect, use, disclose, and safeguard your information when you visit www.digivansuk.com. This policy complies with UK GDPR and the Data Protection Act 2018.

Information We Collect

We may collect personal information such as your name, email address, phone number, company name, and any details you submit through forms or email. We also collect technical data including IP address, browser type, device information, and usage data via cookies.

How We Use Your Information

We use your data to respond to enquiries, provide services, improve our website, maintain security, and comply with legal obligations.

Legal Bases for Processing

We process your data based on consent, contractual necessity, legitimate interests, or legal obligations.

Cookies

We use cookies to ensure website functionality, analyse traffic, and improve user experience. You can control cookies through your browser settings.

Sharing Your Data

We do not sell your data. We may share it with trusted service providers such as hosting and analytics partners, who are required to protect your information.

Data Retention

We retain personal data only as long as necessary for the purposes described or to meet legal requirements.

Data Security

We use appropriate technical and organisational measures to safeguard your personal data, though no internet transmission is completely secure.

Your Rights

You have the right to access, correct, erase, restrict, or object to processing of your data, and to withdraw consent at any time.

Third-Party Links

Our website may contain links to third-party sites. We are not responsible for their privacy practices.

Policy Updates

We may update this policy periodically. Any changes will be posted with a revised date.
