This is a hands-on role for a graduate or early-career marketer who wants real exposure, real responsibility, and real impact from day one.

You'll play a key role in bringing our brand to life, supporting campaigns, creating content, and helping us connect with brokers across the UK.

What you'll be doing

You'll support the delivery of engaging, high-impact marketing activity across multiple channels, including:

- Helping to procure and develop our merchandise

- Supporting internal communications alongside our HR team
- Tracking performance and helping us continually improve
- Making sure everything we put out is sharp, consistent, and on-brand

About you

- Recent graduate (or equivalent) in Marketing, Business, Communications, or similar
- Strong written and verbal communication skills
- Creative, detail-oriented, and full of ideas
- Confident using social platforms, especially LinkedIn
- Proactive, organised, and keen to learn in a fast-paced environment
- Interest in property or finance is a bonus, but not essential

What you'll get

- Hands-on experience in a rapidly growing, high-performance financial services brand
- Exposure to full end-to-end marketing campaigns
- The chance to own ideas and see them come to life
- A collaborative, supportive team that backs your development
- Real opportunity to grow as we scale
