Who Are We?

For more than 60 years, we've helped organizations communicate pride, identity, and purpose through high-quality flags and fabric signage. From government institutions and schools to businesses, community groups, sporting events and trade partners, we support clients who need dependable products and responsive service they can trust.

Our team combines traditional craftsmanship with modern production capabilities to deliver durable, precise, and consistently reliable work. Every piece we produce, from custom flags and banners to large-scale projects, is made with care, attention to detail, and a clear understanding of where and why it will be displayed.

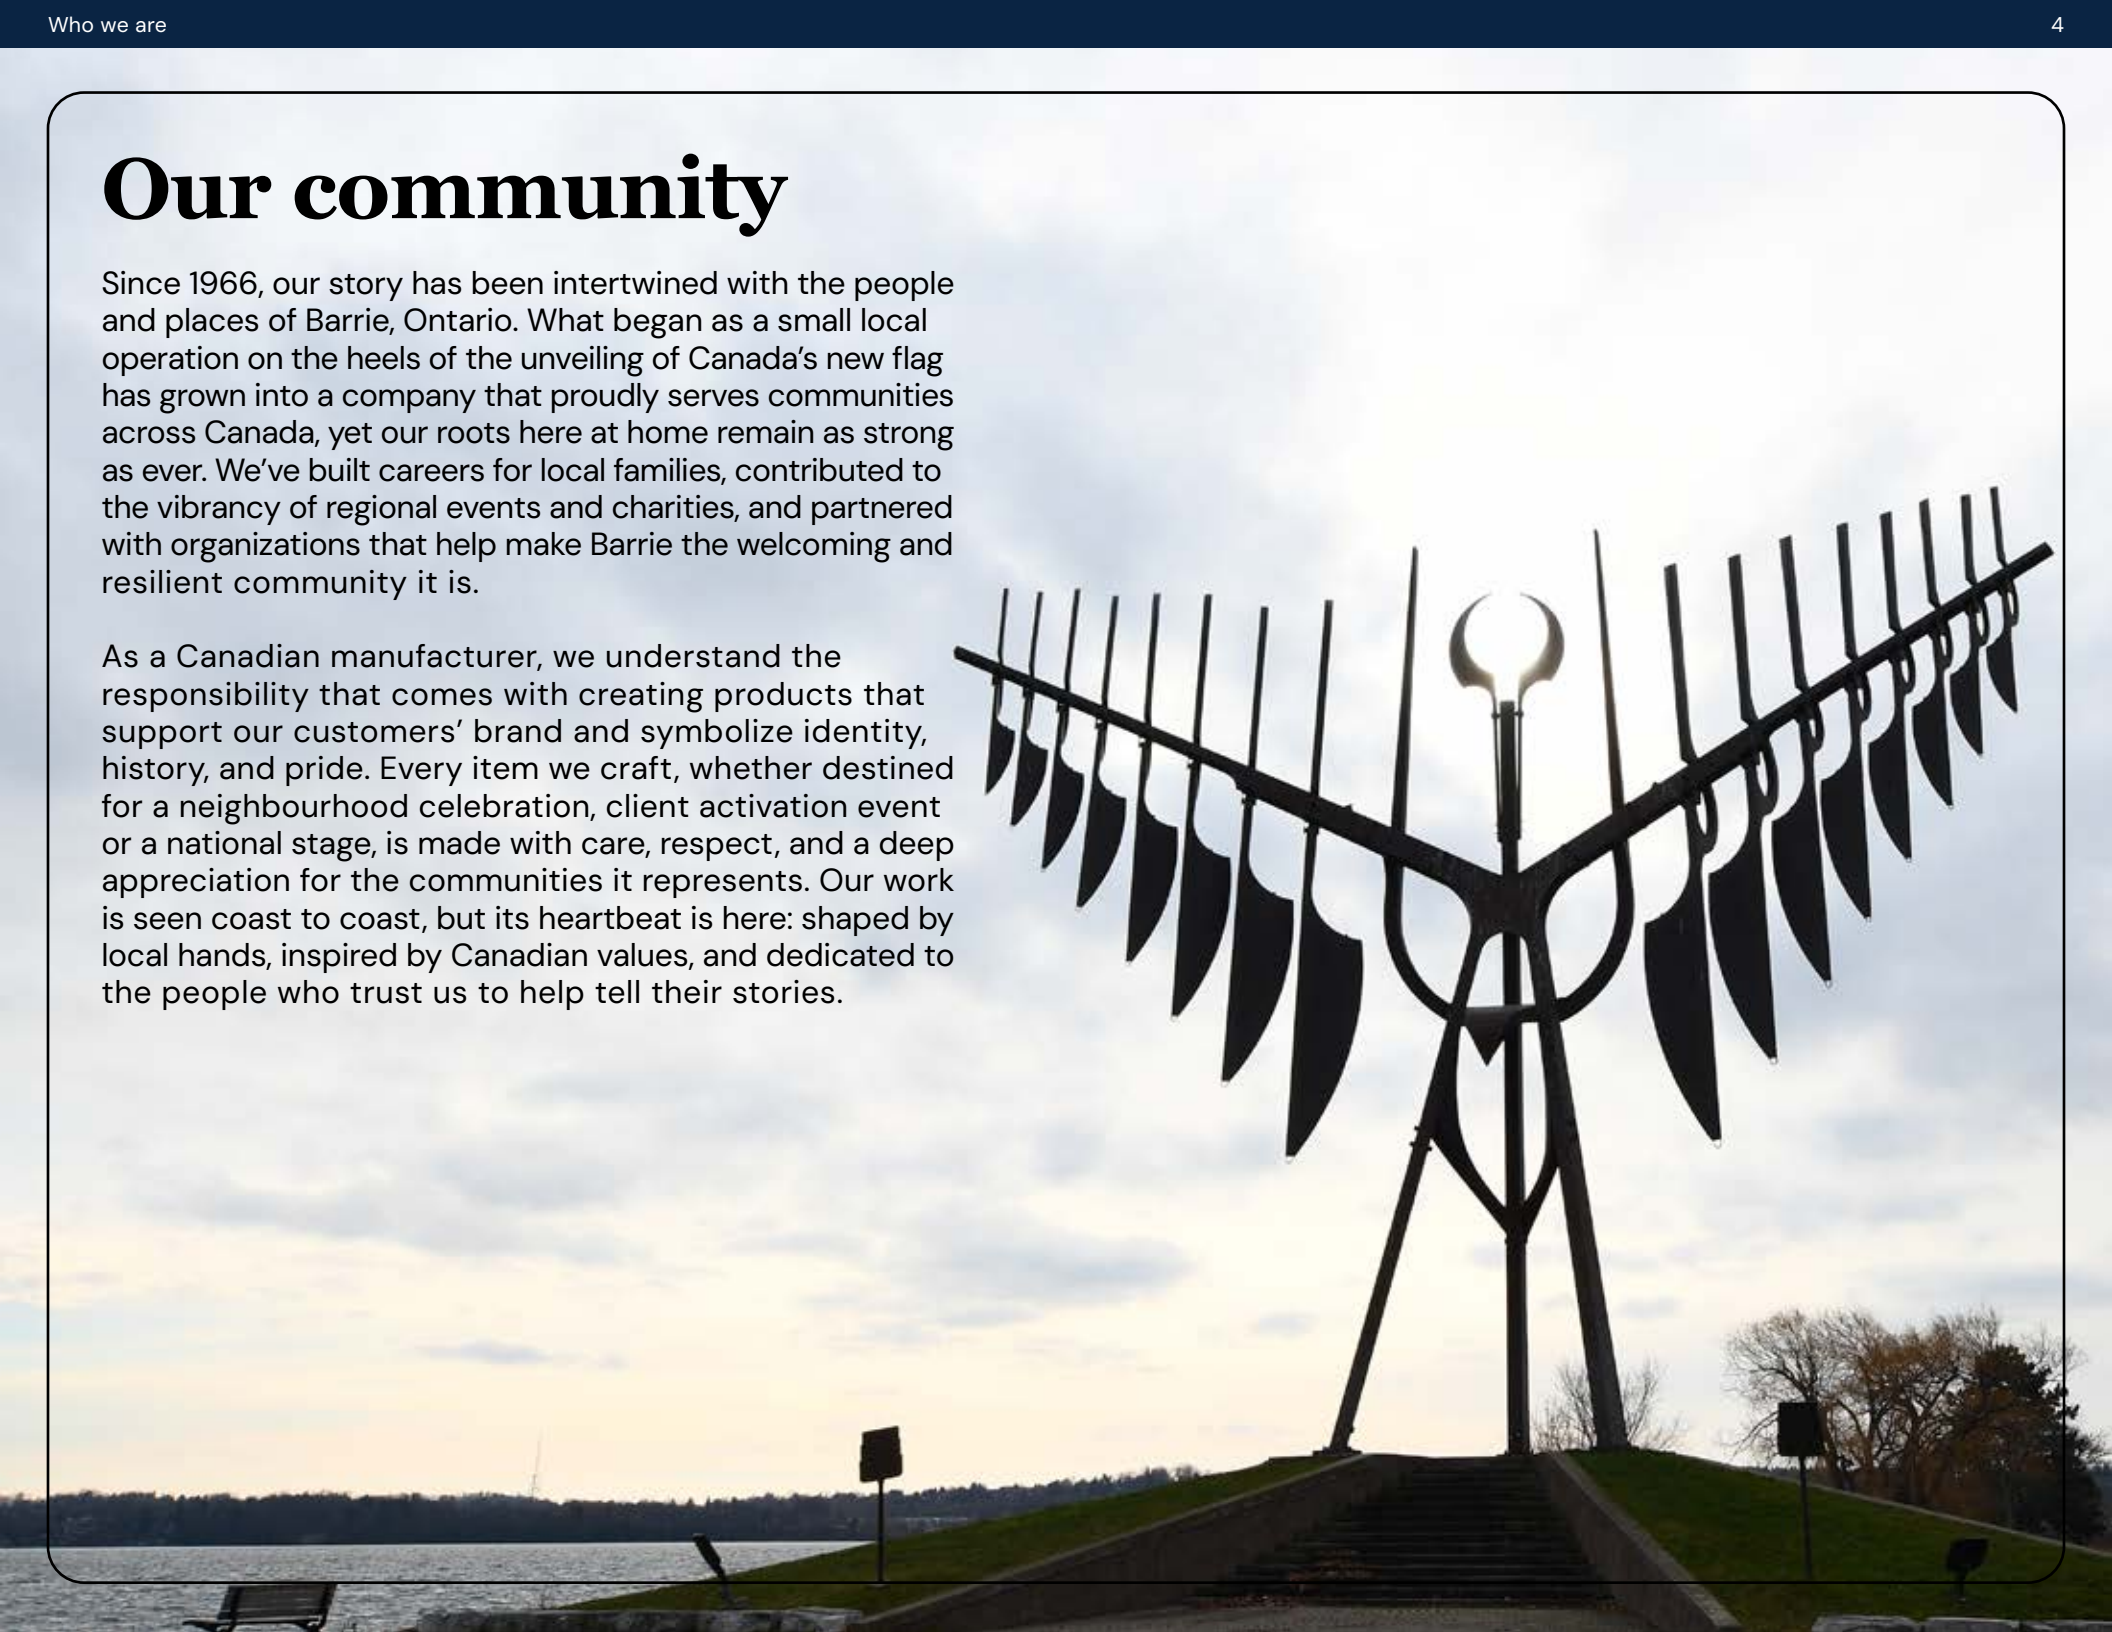

We believe quality is more than how a product looks; it's how it performs. That means dependable materials, trusted finishing techniques, timelines and service that support real-world demands. When clients choose us, they're choosing a Canadian partner who responds quickly, communicates clearly, and stands behind every product we offer.

From significant public moments to everyday brand presence, we take pride in supporting the programs, places, and moments that matter - helping people be seen, recognized, and united through meaningful visual expression.

Our community

Since 1966, our story has been intertwined with the people and places of Barrie, Ontario. What began as a small local operation on the heels of the unveiling of Canada's new flag has grown into a company that proudly serves communities across Canada, yet our roots here at home remain as strong as ever. We've built careers for local families, contributed to the vibrancy of regional events and charities, and partnered with organizations that help make Barrie the welcoming and resilient community it is.

As a Canadian manufacturer, we understand the responsibility that comes with creating products that support our customers' brand and symbolize identity, history, and pride. Every item we craft, whether destined for a neighbourhood celebration, client activation event or a national stage, is made with care, respect, and a deep appreciation for the communities it represents. Our work is seen coast to coast, but its heartbeat is here: shaped by local hands, inspired by Canadian values, and dedicated to the people who trust us to help tell their stories.

Our Values:

"The legacy that Flags Unlimited has created is built from the dedication and skill of our amazing team. Our craftsmanship reflects their history and stories, and they craft products to tell the history and stories of our clients and customers. The Material Matters

When it comes to selecting a flag or outdoor fabric, material truly matters. Across Canada and around the world, polyester has become the preferred choice for long-term outdoor use, especially in demanding climates where wind, rain, snow, and UV exposure can quickly break down lesser fabrics. For more than 30 years, Flags Unlimited has manufactured the majority of our products in high-quality polyester because it delivers the durability, colourfastness, and weather resistance Canadians expect.

Polyester's advantages are clear: it resists fading, won't fray, performs exceptionally in harsh environments, and uses dispersed, water-soluble dyes that fully penetrate the fabric, ensuring vibrant, bold colour. As a hydrophobic material, it holds up better in moisture and coastal installations, and its enhanced longevity makes it a more environmentally responsible and economical choice than nylon. It's no surprise that polyester has become the fabric of choice for soft signage in many countries and continues to be the material most requested by consumers.

Why Polyester Performs Better Outdoors

Superior UV & Fade Resistance

Polyester resists UV-induced chemical breakdown, retaining up to 95% of its colour and strength after prolonged sun exposure, while nylon degrades faster and fades more quickly.

Water-Repellent & Weather-Ready

Polyester is naturally hydrophobic, repelling water to remain lightweight and resist moisture-induced stress. This helps products dry quickly and maintain their shape and performance in wet conditions.

Durable Knit Construction

Knit polyester is engineered to resist fraying when cut or stressed, unlike woven fabrics such as nylon, which can unravel at the edges. Minor repairs such as trimming edge wear can extend the product life without compromising strength. Knit polyester also offers superior elasticity and wrinkle resistance, enhancing durability and performance under stress.

High-Quality, Environmentally Considerate Dyes

Polyester repels water, keeping fibres strong and stable. Its water-based disperse dyes fully penetrate the fibre, delivering vibrant, long-lasting colour with exceptional durability, while using less water and fewer harsh chemicals. In contrast, nylon's dye process can weaken fibres and produce less durable, less eco-friendly results.

Why Polyester is More Sustainable

Our polyester products offer a sustainable advantage. Recycled polyester requires less energy and produces fewer greenhouse gases than virgin synthetics, while maintaining vibrant colour and long-lasting strength. This circular approach diverts plastic waste from landfills without compromising quality.

The Result

Polyester offers exceptional durability, colourfastness, and resilience, ensuring long-lasting, vibrant custom products for indoor or outdoor use. Made with sustainability in mind, it's an environmentally responsible choice that delivers high-quality performance every time.

Why Finishing Matters

1 The Importance of Finishing

Finishing is more than just a cosmetic touch; it determines the performance, appearance, and longevity of your flag, custom signage or fabric display. Raw edges can fray or tear under stress, compromising both aesthetics and durability. Proper finishing ensures your display withstands handling, mounting, constant take down and set up, wind, and weather.

Every project, from indoor banners, custom tents and signage to outdoor flags, benefits from tailored finishing that balances appearance with functionality.

2 Understanding Fabric Types

Not all fabrics behave the same, and finishing methods must match the material.

DuraMatte / Matte Finish Fabrics: Smooth, tightly knit, indoor-use fabrics; excel with heat-cut or clean-cut edges to preserve a flat, modern surface.

Knit Polyester / Outdoor Fabrics: Strong, resilient materials; best suited for reinforced hems and stitching to survive wind, rain, and repeated use.

Selecting the right finishing starts with understanding your fabric's characteristics.

3 Finishing Techniques Explained

Different finishing techniques offer varying benefits depending on fabric type and intended use:

Heat-Cut / Clean-Cut: Seals synthetic fibres, prevents fraying, keeps edges smooth, ideal for indoor displays.

Sewn Hems / Reinforced Stitching: Adds structural strength, ideal for outdoor flags and heavy-use banners, tents/canopies.

Webbing with Grommets or Pole Pockets: Distributes tension across edges, supports mounting hardware, essential for large or high-stress signage, tents and banners.

Heat-Welded Hems: Provides strong, water-resistant edges, excellent for banners and outdoor signage.

The right method ensures your display looks professional and lasts longer.

Ask us about sustainable fabric options, including fabric made from 100% recycled material.
This is a special-order material, so please contact your account manager for details on availability and ordering outside of our regular fabric options.

Why Finishing Matters

4 Indoor vs. Outdoor Considerations

The environment heavily influences finishing choices:

Indoor Displays: Focus on appearance; minimal bulk, smooth finishes, clean edges. Heat-cut edges are ideal.

Outdoor Displays: Durability is critical; reinforced hems, multiple stitching rows, and corner patches help resist wind, moisture, and UV damage.

Always consider where and how the display will be used before selecting finishing methods.

5 Balancing Aesthetics and Durability

Finishing often involves trade-offs:

Aesthetic Priority: Clean-cut or heat-cut edges preserve smooth, modern surfaces, ideal for trade show displays or indoor banners.

Durability Priority: Reinforced hems and stitching enhance strength but may slightly alter appearance; critical for flags, banners, and long-term outdoor installations.

Our team works with you to strike the right balance for your specific application.

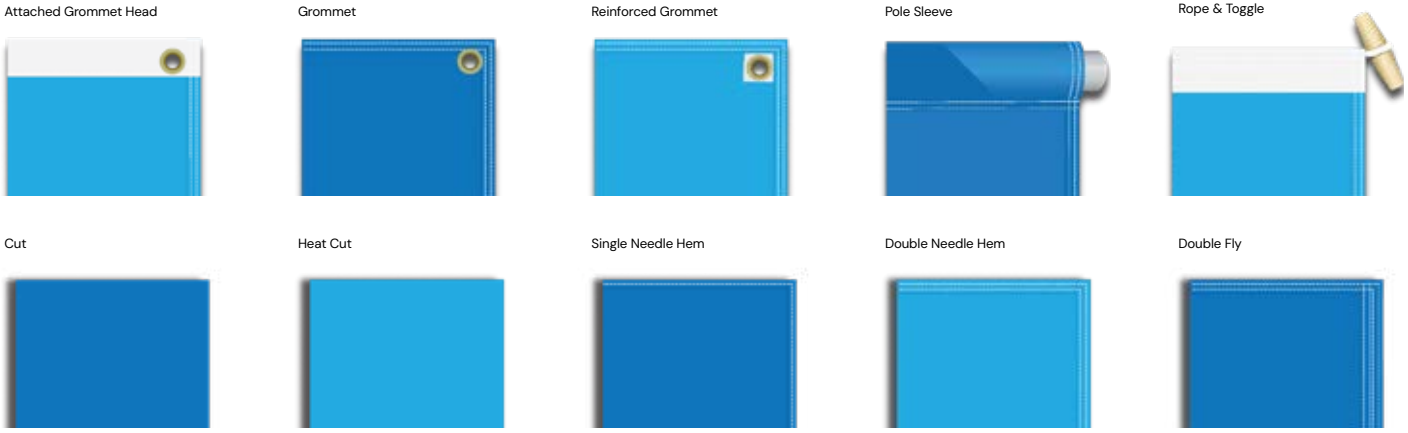

6 How We Can Help

Each project is unique. Factors like fabric type, environment, installation method, and intended use influence the finishing recommendation. Our team collaborates closely with customers to:

Evaluate the best finishing methods for the selected fabric.

Recommend options that optimize longevity, performance, and appearance.

Ensure displays meet both aesthetic and functional requirements.

Polyester fibres maintain strength and colour significantly better than nylon when exposed to prolonged sunlight, reducing fading and extending product life. Ask about custom finishings like fringe.

Print Methods & Colour Guidelines

High-quality output begins with properly prepared artwork. To help ensure accurate colour, crisp detail, and efficient production, we recommend the following file and colour standards. Our team is always available to assist with file setup, colour matching, and technical questions.

Not sure how to format your artwork?

Our team of experts is here to help.

File Formats

We accept files created in current versions of Adobe Creative Cloud:

Illustrator
(.ai, .eps, .pdf) - convert all text to outlines and include linked images

Photoshop
(.psd, .tif) - preserve layers where possible

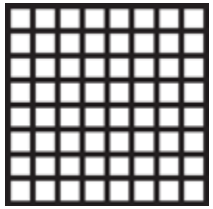

Colour Setup

For the most predictable colour results:

Assign coated Pantone references for vector artwork

Work in CMYK colour space (U.S. Web Coated SWOP v2)

Avoid mixing Pantone and process colour in the same element

Resolution

To achieve optimal output on our print systems:

Provide artwork at 100% scale where possible

Minimum recommended resolution: 100 ppi at final size

Best Practices

To ensure clean, consistent results:

Include all linked and embedded files

Convert all text to paths (vector artwork)

Avoid drop shadows, overprints, filters, or transparency effects that may render unpredictably

For appliqué production, supply vector artwork only

If file setup is unfamiliar or if you are working with legacy artwork, our team can review files and offer recommendations to ensure the best production outcome.
