

1 Agency

Students demonstrate metacognition by understanding their personal strengths and needs, setting rigorous goals, and utilizing regular reflection to take active ownership of their unique learning journey and preparing for their future.

2 Collaboration

Learners build meaningful relationships through collaborative group work and peer discourse, respecting and leveraging diverse cultural assets to act as empathetic leaders within their school and local neighborhood.

3 Communication

Learners read, write, speak, and express ideas with clarity and confidence across multiple platforms, including digital, oral, and visual and performing arts, to honor their identity and advocate for themselves and others.

4 Critical Thinking

Learners approach complex challenges with curiosity and purpose, using inquiry-driven strategies and arts-integrated methods to analyze problems, generate innovative solutions, and adapt their thinking in real-world contexts.

5 Creativity

Learners demonstrate persistence and a growth mindset by navigating difficulty with self-regulation strategies, maintaining wellness and optimism while viewing challenges as essential opportunities for brain growth.

6 Academically Prepared

Students navigate competency-based pathways with flexibility, demonstrating mastery of standards through authentic application and evidence-based portfolios that prepare them for the demands of a changing world.
