IEC Foundation 2022 Platinum Partner Community Service Projects Exceed Goals

By IEC Staff

The IEC Foundation and IEC platinum partners graciously support electrical contractors in many ways throughout the year. At SPARK 2022, they also joined together on two community service projects.

The projects benefitted the Home of the Innocents in Louisville, Kentucky and the Susan G. Komen Foundation for Cancer Research. The IECF gave $20,915 to The Home of the Innocents and $10,850 to The Susan G. Komen Foundation!

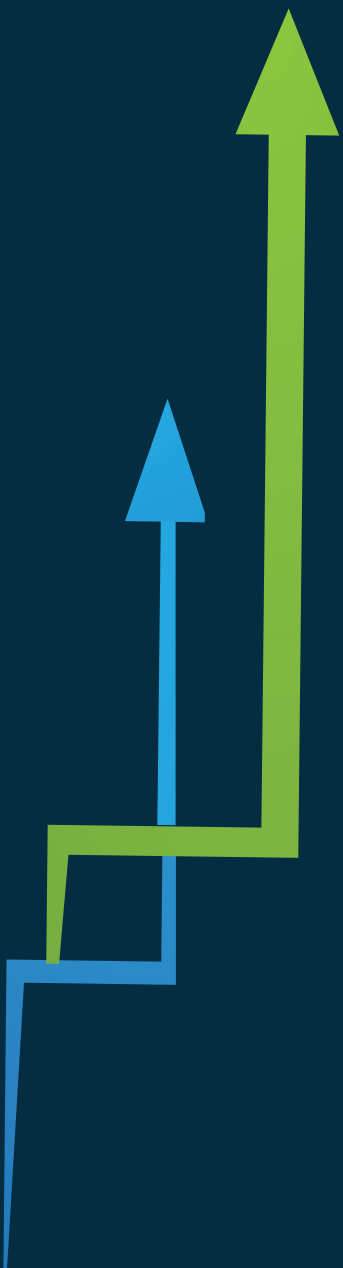

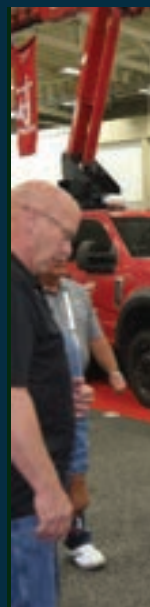

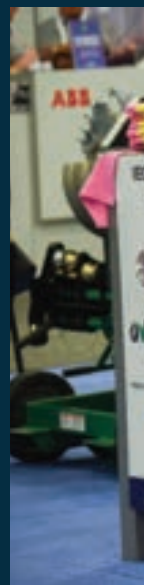

“As a Platinum Partner Council, we felt it was important to partner with the Foundation to give back to the local community and make a positive impact in the market during IEC SPARK,” says Scott Teson, Milwaukee Tool. “I’d like to thank the IEC executive team and IEC Foundation for helping us identify such worthwhile organizations to partner with on this project.”

Before SPARK started, 2022 IEC National President Troy Corrigan, IEC Foundation Board members, and IEC platinum partners visited the Home of the Innocents and delivered a barbecue lunch and care packages for the residents. They attended a Q & A session with President and CEO Paul Robinson, followed by a tour of the facility. They also visited the warehouse on campus to unload personal hygiene product donations.

“IEC’s platinum partners stepped up with the Foundation and supported the Home of the Innocents which is near and dear to our family’s heart,” says Troy. “The goal set was far exceeded due to the generosity of the partners and everyone involved. The needs of the children at the Home of the Innocents reminds us why we as IEC, the IEC Foundation, platinum partners, and members are a strong network and the passion we have for those in need. I personally am very thankful for the support of all involved. The projects bring us into each community we visit, but this one was truly important to me as this was my home community.”

SPARK Expo visitors had the opportunity to make donations on the floor, learn more about the beneficiaries, sign cards, and celebrate together after presenting their gifts.

“It has been an amazing experience to combine with our partners to truly have a positive impact on the communities we serve,” says IEC Foundation Tom Alexander. “I look forward to continuing to give back through community service projects in the future. Thank you to everyone who so generously gave of their time and resources to help others.”

ALEXANDER

Hello IEC Foundation Supporters,

As we close the books on another year, it is incredible how much of a difference that a year makes. Looking back at what the IEC Foundation has accomplished, I would like to thank all the Foundation Trustees, Partners, and Supporters for their hard work. Where do I start?

I think it was a wonderful accomplishment for IECF to grant First Aid Kits and AEDs to all chapters that requested them. I am grateful that we were able to bring health and safety to the chapters. Thank you, Marilyn Akers Stansbury, for the vision and leadership to execute this project. The Foundation was able to support all chapters that submitted grant applications for The Home Depot Pro Xtra program. The IECF Scholarship program awarded a record high of $147,963, to students this year. I would like to thank Lloyd Quinney, of the San Antonio chapter, and his committee for facilitating the scholarship awards. Job well done Lloyd!

There are 16,000 apprentices nationwide in the IEC program. We may not have directly worked with all of them, but I feel like we were able to have a positive impact on the education and lives of many of our students. I don't want to ramble on forever here, but I am proud of IEC Foundation's positive impact not only in supporting our apprentices and chapters but in contributing to the future of the electrical industry. Thank you to every supporter for contributing to IECF this year and making these grants and programs possible.
