Christeyns North America Celebrates Grand Opening of New Corporate Headquarters and Manufacturing Facility in Greenville, NC

Greenville, NC – March 25, 2026 – Christeyns North America celebrated the official opening of its new, state-of-the-art North American corporate headquarters and manufacturing facility at 311 Staton Road in Greenville, North Carolina. The milestone was marked by a ribbon cutting ceremony attended by local officials, business leaders, and community partners.

This new facility represents a transformative step forward for the company, bringing together corporate offices and manufacturing operations under one roof for the first time in its history.

Purpose-built to support growth and innovation, the facility significantly expands manufacturing capacity, enhances product development capabilities, and introduces advanced quality control processes—all designed to deliver even greater value to customers.

“This facility is a reflection of where we are—and more importantly, where we are going,” said Ryan Cotroneo, COO/CTO of Christeyns North America. “With increased capacity, enhanced R&D capabilities, and improved quality control, we are better equipped than ever to deliver high-performing solutions today while continuing to innovate for the future.”

The new Greenville facility features modern production systems, dedicated research and development space, and integrated operations that allow for faster communication, improved efficiency, and stronger alignment across teams. These advancements position Christeyns North America to accelerate innovation, respond more quickly to customer needs, and maintain the highest standards of product performance and consistency.

As part of the day’s celebration, community leaders highlighted the significance of the investment for the region.

“Christeyns North America’s investment in Greenville is a strong vote of confidence in our community,” said Mayor P.J. Connelly, City of Greenville. “This new facility not only supports economic growth, but also highlights the kind of forward-thinking companies that continue to choose Greenville as a place to grow and innovate.”

“Understanding the history of Christeyns and its manufacturing legacy within Pitt County, it was extremely important that we help secure the company’s operations here for decades to come. Christeyns North America’s new facility reinforces Greenville’s position as a hub for innovative manufacturing and also contributes to a powerful shift in economic growth in our community,” said Josh Lewis, President & CEO of Invest Greenville. “This investment demonstrates yet another example of the strong manufacturing commitments in the Greenville area and the continued growth of advanced manufacturing in our region.”

By unifying its operations, the company is also strengthening its internal culture and collaboration—creating an environment where ideas move faster from concept to production, ultimately benefiting the customers and industries it serves. As CEO Josh Lilley noted, bringing teams together in one location enhances collaboration, strengthens culture, and positions the organization to operate more effectively as one unified team focused on serving customers.

What was celebrated today represents more than a new building—it establishes a foundation for continued growth, innovation, and long-term investment. The capabilities introduced today will deliver immediate benefits to customers, with even greater advancements expected in the years ahead as the company continues to evolve its technologies, products, and service approach.

Following the ceremony, attendees were invited to tour the facility and experience firsthand the advanced capabilities that will support the company’s next phase of growth.
