ALLY ONE®

ARMOR ATTACHMENTS

Angel Armor's Ally One Armor Attachments are modular ballistic components engineered to enhance coverage and versatility across the RISE external carrier ecosystem. Designed for high-risk operations, each element — including neck/upper shoulder, throat, bicep, lower ab and groin panels — provides targeted coverage for critical areas while maintaining comfort and freedom of movement.

Whether used individually or as a complete system, Armor Attachments allow agencies to tailor protection based on mission-specific threats. Built with durable 500D CORDURA nylon and reinforced stitching, this system delivers reliable ballistic performance without compromising mobility.

ARMOR ATTACHMENTS

NECK / UPPER SHOULDER ATTACHMENT

Seamless coverage from shoulder to helmet. Designed to move with the operator, this attachment bridges the gap between carrier and headwear, maintaining neck mobility and ballistic protection under a helmet.

THROAT ATTACHMENT

Low-profile, mission-ready coverage. Easily removable and form-fitting, this component offers targeted throat protection that adapts to your loadout — without adding unnecessary bulk.

BICEP ATTACHMENT

Upper arm coverage built for action. With an adjustable fit and streamlined profile, this attachment delivers functional protection without compromising mobility or weapon handling.

LOWER ABDOMEN ATTACHMENT

Critical coverage, zero compromise. Designed for protection below the plate line, this low-profile attachment reinforces the lower torso without restricting movement — ideal for unpredictable, high-risk operations.

GROIN ATTACHMENT

Optimal protection without restriction. Built for high-threat environments, this durable, ergonomic armor piece enhances frontal coverage while preserving mobility and tactical performance.
