

Spreading your wings is not just flight,
But daring dreams into the light.
To rise above the doubt and fear,
And find the strength to persevere.

For in each stretch, in each brave leap,
Lies the promise of what you seek.
So spread your wings, let courage sing,
And soar into your everything.

