Celebrity Chefs: Still Serving Up Safety.

SafeHaven is now The Archway, a new name that reflects our commitment to guiding survivors toward safe, stable futures. We may have a fresh look, but we are still the same organization you've supported for years, with the same mission, the same team, and the same families who rely on your generosity.

For more than four decades, Mid-Cities SOS has been a steadfast advocate for survivors of domestic violence, raising both awareness and critical funds through its dedicated membership and signature events. Together, this remarkable community has made a lasting impact—supporting and strengthening the safety net for survivors across Tarrant County and beyond.

As with many long-standing volunteer organizations, Mid-Cities SOS has reached a natural point of transition. After careful consideration, the SOS Board and membership made the difficult but thoughtful decision to close its doors at the end of 2025. This decision reflects the evolving needs of our community, the changing landscape of volunteer-led organizations, and a desire to ensure that the traditions and programs built by SOS will continue to thrive in the years to come.

With gratitude and excitement, The Archway is honored to become the sole proprietor of all Mid-Cities SOS programs and events, including the beloved Celebrity Chefs fundraiser. The Archway's mission has always been deeply aligned with that of SOS, and this transition ensures that the heart of SOS—the generosity, advocacy, and commitment to survivors—will live on.

To the members, volunteers, donors, and chefs who have poured their passion into these efforts: thank you. Your legacy will not only be preserved, but it will continue to grow under The Archway's leadership as we collectively work toward a future free from domestic violence.

We are humbled to carry this torch forward and invite you to join us as we honor the past, embrace this transition, and look ahead to the impact we will create together.
