A woman with long dark hair, wearing a dark jacket and light blue jeans, is walking away from the camera down the center aisle of a large, ornate Gothic church. The aisle is flanked by dark wooden pews. At the far end of the church, there is a large, multi-tiered altar with a white cloth and a large floral arrangement. Behind the altar are three tall, narrow stained glass windows with intricate designs. The church's architecture features high vaulted ceilings, pointed arches, and columns with gold-colored capitals. The lighting is warm and focused on the altar area.
