Streamline Contracting

Facilitate Expanded Social Care Billing

Promote Community Care Hubs

- Increased attention on social drivers of health (SDOH)

- Community-based organizations (CBOs) are increasingly contracting with health care organizations to address health-related social needs

Contracting Workgroup Toolkit

Resource Guide A Health Plan's Guide to Developing CBO Contract Scopes of Work

Introduction

Health care organizations are increasingly contracting with community-based organizations (CBOs) and Community Care Hubs (CCHs)¹ to address health-related social needs and provide person-centered services. CBOs are valuable strategic partners to health care organizations because of their community knowledge, the trust they have earned and their long history of delivering critical social care in people's homes and communities.

Many CBO contracts are structured as vendor contracts² for value-added services, care coordination, care navigation or community-based care management. However, as social care and other community-based services become covered benefits or formally approved as in lieu of services (ILOS) under Medicaid or M

Resource Guide Partnerships with Community-based Organizations: Opportunities for Health Plans to Create Value

Overview

Health care entities are increasingly recognizing the importance of addressing health-related social needs (HRSN) such as housing, food and transportation to improve health outcomes and reduce costs. Most government health care programs now require health plans and providers to identify and address members' HRSNs as part of a holistic approach to health. Health plans also understand that unmet HRSNs play a large role in health disparities and preventable health care costs.

Resource Guide A Health Plan's Guide to Paying CBOs for Social Care

Introduction

Payment is a critical element of any contract. When negotiating the payment aspects of a contract between a health care entity and a community-based organization (CBO) or community care hub (CCH), both the amount of the payment and the payment methodology need to be considered. CBOs should keep in mind that there is no single "best" payment methodology that is appropriate in all situations.

Designing the Payment Structure: A Health Plan's Guide to Paying CBOs & CCHs for Social Care

Special Payment Considerations for CBOs:
Addresses areas that CBOs/CCHs may differ from the healthcare sector

- ✓ Differences in billing/coding standards
- ✓ Inclusion in Medical Loss can increase administrative burden
- ✓ Adaptation of non-traditional contract payment structure
- ✓ Potentially limited risk tolerance
- ✓ Allowing for evolution in payment methodology over time

Payment Models, Use Cases, and Examples:
Outlines the types, use cases, and real-world examples

- ✓ Four Major Payment Models
 1. Fixed Price Contract
 2. Fee-for-Service
 3. Bundled Payment
 4. Capitation
- ✓ Pay for Performance
 1. Shared Savings
 2. Shared Losses
 3. Outcome Based Payment
 4. Performance Bonuses

Capitation and Shared Loss Example

In Virginia, BayAging, a community care hub, contracted with a Medicaid managed care plan to provide fully delegated care management for Medicaid enrollees. Bay Aging is paid on a PMPM basis. The parties also agreed to a value-based arrangement in which the CCH would share penalties if they failed to achieve state-required metrics and compliance elements. The penalties, which would be imposed by the state Medicaid agency, started at $1,000 for the first occurrence and increased in 5 percent increments for subsequent occurrences.

BayAging was responsible for achieving state-directed measures, including care plan development, documentation of discussion of person-centered care goals, reduction in all-cause hospital readmissions and vaccine administration.

When to use:
Capitation may be appropriate when the CBO

Hybrid FFS/Capitation Example

Western New York Integrated Care (WNYICC) has established a hybrid arrangement with Independent Health Advantage plan. The plan pays a lump-sum upfront capitated payment to WNYICC for two weeks' worth of home-delivered care services to any member who is discharged from the hospital with at least one
