

YOUR NEXT CHAPTER OF SERVICE STARTS HERE.

Through nonpartisan programs like Answering the Call, New Politics Academy helps leaders prepare to serve their communities and country again – this time through politics.

In community with other service-driven leaders, Answering the Call participants draw on their service experiences and core values to decide whether they want to run for office in the future. Through guided reflection, Answering the Call helps leaders do the inner work before they decide to step into politics.

For the servant leader asking: Is politics my next mission?

WHAT THIS EXPERIENCE DELIVERS:

CLARITY

A deeper understanding of your values, motivations, and readiness — and whether public office is the next step in your service journey.

CONFIDENCE

Confidence rooted in intentional reflection — knowing your decision to run (or not) is grounded in purpose, not pressure.

COMMUNITY

A trusted cohort of service-driven leaders who challenge, support, and walk alongside you as you explore your path.

ARE YOU READY TO ANSWER THE CALL?

We offer Answering the Call each spring, summer, and fall in a variety of formats, including one-day and five-week tracks, both in person and virtually.

Designed for veterans, national service alumni, public servants, and community leaders deciding whether to run for office.
