

The Benefits of eBundling

Making lawyers' lives easier

Why eBundling?

If you ask any lawyer what their main headaches are, preparing bundles will be high on the list, and we find that it's the number one administrative problem affecting lawyers today.

It's easy to understand why - they tend to contain sensitive information that you don't want to lose, take a vast amount of time to prepare manually, and are often produced at the last minute - making the process very stressful.

You could spend half of your day photocopying, sorting documents into ring binders and handwriting page numbers, knowing that your inbox is going unattended whilst the phone won't stop ringing.

Simply put, they are inefficient, expensive, time consuming and stressful to compile manually.

That's where eBundling comes in.

In 2007 we wrote the first version of our document bundling software to make it easy for all lawyers and legal professionals, regardless of the type of work they did, or the size of the firm they worked for, to be able to produce court compliant electronic document bundles in minutes.

The Benefits of Zylpha Bundling

✓ Simple

Most software and systems in the legal industry are hard to install, hard to configure, and tricky to learn, making user adoption a real headache. By the time it's ready to use the project has finished or everyone has lost focus and moved onto something else. Zylpha Bundling is the most powerful bundling software available today, and it's simple to start using.

✓ Flexible

Every lawyer, judge, magistrate, and barrister want their bundles set out completely differently to everyone else. Zylpha Bundling can cope with all the demands and variations expected.

✓ Fast

In the legal industry time is a premium, but everything is time consuming, whether its time recording or client meetings, telephone attendance notes or answering emails. It feels you achieve very little in the day whilst your backlog of case work is ever increasing. That's why we've made sure Zylpha Bundling is fast.
